ATTACKS THE KODAK TRUST

Government Sues to Dissolve Photographic Supplies Concern.

WILL FIGHT IT, SAYS EASTMAN

Willing to Readjust Methods But Will Oppose a Dissolution.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 9.—Dissolution of the so-called Eastman Kodak trust was asked in a civil anti-trust suit filed here today by order of Attorney General McReynolds. The federal government seeks the dissolution by receivership, if necessary, of the Eastman Kodak Company of New Jersey and the Eastman Kodak Company of New York, which are charged with monopolizing the trade in photographic supplies in violation of the Sherman law.

It is the aim of the government to obtain a division of the assets and business of the two companies controlling 72 per cent of the business in the United States into such parts as will effectively destroy the alleged monopoly and restore full and free competition. The petition in equity asks for an injunction forbidding the fixing of re-sale prices of cameras, films and other patented photographic supplies.

First Attempt to Apply It.
This marks the attorney general's first application of the recent decision of the United States supreme court denying patentees the right to fix re-sale prices of retailers.

Following are named as defendants: Eastman Kodak Company of New Jersey, Eastman Kodak Company of New York, George Eastman, Henry A. Strong, Walter S. Hubbell and Frank S. Noble, all of Rochester, N. Y.

The bill, filed by United States Attorney O'Brien, is the result of an atten-

RECEIVE GIFT OF SOUTHLAND

Bust of Col. Richard Dale
Owen is Unveiled at Indianapolis.

STARS AND BARS BEDECK CAPITOL

Former Prisoners of War
Pay Signal Tribute to Union Soldier.

Indianapolis, June 9.—For the first time the stars and bars of the southern confederacy decked the state capitol of Indiana today when a bronze bust of Col. Richard Dale Owen, commandant at Camp Morton, near Indianapolis, in 1862, the gift to the state of confederate soldiers who were Col. Owen's prisoners, was unveiled.

GEN. BENNETT H. YOUNG,
Speaks for Confederate Soldiers in Presentation of Owen Bust.

Although the feelings of war days have mellowed with time, it is probably the first time that confederate soldiers have so honored a union soldier.

General Bennett H. Young, of Kentucky, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, was to make the presentation speech this afternoon, and Vice President Thomas R. Marshall, former governor of Indiana, was to accept the bust for the state. William L. Bryan, president of Indiana university, where Col. Owen went as a member of the faculty after he had resigned from the army, also was on the program. Governor Ralston presided. Many members of the G. A. R. were to have places near the speakers.

The movement to present the bust to Indiana was started by S. A. Cunningham, of Nashville, Tenn., publisher of the Confederate Veteran, the official paper of the confederate organizations. Mr. Cunningham was a prisoner at Camp

WOMEN'S FEET ALL WRONG, SAYS Y. W. C. A. DIRECTOR.

Lacrosse, Wis., June 9.—Women's feet are all wrong, and they've got to be corrected, in the opinion of the Young Women's Christian association of Lacrosse, and Miss Amanda Clement, physical director of the institution, has started out to do the job. Miss Clement has just started a class of 75 young women in the foot question and has taken diagrams of the feet of the girls both with shoes on and off and these diagrams are the feet—she expects to place on view at a public exhibition soon.

In the 75 so far examined Miss Clement has found none to be perfect, all having been deformed, to some extent by being improperly shod.

CELEBRATED BEAUTY AND EXPERT SHOT IS POPULAR JUNE BRIDE.

Five hundred guests witnessed the wedding of Miss Bessie Frank Yeakum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Yeakum, to Frank Rahn Larkin, June 4, in the Fifth avenue Presbyterian church, New York city. The bride is as well known in Texas as in New York and as popular in the field of sports as in the drawing room. A remarkable collection of animal pelts is a mute testimonial to her marksmanship.

How Some of Our People May Spend Their Summer Vacations

STEAMER OLINDA NOW HAS CONVOY

Vessel With Fire in Her Hold is Steaming for Charleston.

IS IN LITTLE DANGER

Charleston, S. C., June 9.—Advises received here state that the steamer Olinda with fire in her hold was in convoy of the United States ship Nashville and the steamer Uriyaba at 10 a. m. today in latitude 31:47 longitude 72:25 degrees. They probably will make Charleston harbor Wednesday morning.

HAD NO ADVICES.

New York, June 9.—No further advice had been received here this morning regarding the steamship Olinda of the Munson line, reported afloat at sea, presumably somewhere off the coast of Georgia. It was thought here that she was heading for Brunswick. Officers of the line received two wireless messages, but both were garbled and gave no information other than that there was a fire in No. 1 hold, and that the vessel was making for port.

The Olinda left here last Friday with passengers and merchandise for Cuban ports. She is a seagoing rigged steel, single screw steamer built in 1887 and is owned by the Cuban Marine Company of Havana. She is 290 feet long, has a 40-foot beam, 22 feet depth of hold and 1,492 net tonnage.

HANGS FOR CRIME NEAR WHITE HOUSE

Washington Negro Goes to Scaffold for Attack on White Woman.

FIRST IN DISTRICT

Washington, June 9.—Nathaniel Green, a negro, who criminally assaulted a white woman within the shadow of the white house on Christmas night, went to his death on the scaffold today, the first man to pay the death penalty for such a crime in the district of Columbia.

He had confessed and President Wilson had refused clemency. Almost in a state of collapse Green was assisted to the scaffold and was dead in ten minutes.

"Run and dope did this," he murmured to his guards at the last moment. "I hope I'll be an example to the other men of my race."

Green's victim, a government clerk, will be an invalid for life.

HAD POWER BUT DIDN'T USE IT

U. S. Steel Could Have Driven Others Out,
Says Mr. Gary.

BUT HE OPPOSED IT

New York, June 9.—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States steel corporation, testified today that the corporation had the power to drive competitors out of business during the early days of its career, but that he had never approved of such a policy. Judge Gary was on the stand for cross examination in the government's dissolution suit against the corporation.

"There was a disposition on the part of some of the officials of the subsidiary companies," he said, under questioning by Jacob M. Dickinson, the government lawyer, "to drive that man out of business. This policy I never approved. I always said 'no' when such matters were proposed."

"Did you have the power to drive competitors out of business?"
"Yes, we did; but so did others. I believe that at the time this corporation was formed the Jones & Laughlin Steel company had the power to drive the Republic Iron and Steel company out of business."

OFFICIAL AXE IS LOPPING 'EM OFF

Reaching Out Over Country
for Weather Bureau Employees.

CUTS THIRD SWATH

Washington, June 9.—The official ax fell again in the weather bureau today for the third time since Willis L. Moore himself was recently deposed as chief, because of his activity in trying to become secretary of agriculture. Secretary Houston today suspended, pending further investigation, J. Warren Smith, professor of meteorology, Columbus, Ohio; Henry B. Loresky, general inspector, Milwaukee; Rosette E. Pollock, section director, Trenton, N. J.; and Norman P. Conger, general inspector, Detroit, Mich.

Thirty-nine heads have now fallen in the weather bureau, either by deposition, denotation or suspension, as a result of Moore's alleged misuse of his position. Two days ago thirty-one men were demoted. Two others were suspended pending investigation. Previous to that one of Chief Moore's lieutenants, Charles T. Burns, was demoted. Secretary Houston has decided to make a clean sweep and further action is looked for.

SET ASIDE BY SUPREME COURT

Conviction of So-Called
"Turpentine Trust"
is Overturned.

ERRORS AT HEARING

Washington, June 9.—Conviction of five officers of the American Naval Stores company, of Savannah, the so-called turpentine trust for criminal violation of the Sherman law, were set aside today by the supreme court because of an erroneous instruction of the trial. Justice Pitney was the only dissenter to the opinion.

Officials of the government did not regard the decision as generally unfavorable to the criminal section of the Sherman law. They never considered that they had a strong case. Edmund S. Nash, president of the company, had been fined $3,000; J. E. Cooper Meyers, first vice president, fined $2,500 and sentenced to jail for three months; S. P. Shottor, chairman of the board, fined $3,000 and sentenced to jail for three months; George Mead, treasurer, fined $2,000 and Carl Muller, manager of the Jacksonville branch, fined $5,000. All these sentences were set aside. Shottor and Meyers' cases were the first convictions for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law carrying jail sentences to come before the supreme court. Tense interest prevailed as to what the highest court would do in construing the criminal section of the law.

The trial judge instructed the jury that a conviction could be had if the defendants were found guilty of "any" of the means charged to affect a monopoly. One of the means, Justice Holmes said, in announcing the court's decision, was an offense which would not be a restraint of trade, but mere cheating, punishable by state law.

In announcing the decision Justice Holmes said that the "rule of reason" announced in the Standard Oil decision, did not make the forbidden act so indefinite as to make the Sherman anti-trust law as a criminal measure unconstitutional.

While the case has been going on the company has gone into bankruptcy. It charges the government attack, among other things, had impaired its credit.

MADE NEW WORLD'S RECORD.

Remarkable Achievement in Fire Protection in New York.

New York, June 9.—A world's record in fire protection was established by the success of an experiment made yesterday in shooting high pressure streams of water from the fifty-fourth floor of New York's highest building. This was from a height of 707 feet, the test being made from the building's independent fire stand-pipe system, the city's high pressure service not being tried.

Of the 350 pounds pressure given the water at the pump in the basement over twenty pounds was retained at the nozzle of two lines of hose on the fifty-fourth floor.

WILL UPHOLD WILSON VIEW

Lobby Probers Expected to Report Find of Powerful Influences.

INSIDIOUS? WELL, THAT ALL DEPENDS

Much Hinges on Evidence to Be Gotten Outside the Senate.

Washington, June 9.—When the last senator had testified today before the special commission hunting for the "lobby," it was predicted at the capitol that the report of the investigators would substantially uphold President Wilson's declaration that powerful influences have been at work in Washington, attempting to affect congress on the tariff bill.

Whether it will be shown that "insidious" methods have been used or that improper influences have been exerted upon senators will depend upon the evidence of the next few days, when the committee examines a score of men who have called on senators or directed public campaigns.

The committee undoubtedly will recommend restrictive legislation of a strong character. It will attempt to draw a clear distinction, however, between an organized campaign to change public opinion or influence senators against their judgment, and the legitimate presentation of arguments and facts by officers or representatives of industrial concerns affected by legislation.

Begin Second Week.
The lobby hunt plunged into its second week today. Less than a dozen senators remained to be examined before the committee took up another trail and began calling a score or more of men mentioned in the testimony of senators as being on one side or the other of the free sugar fight, or of being attorneys or special representatives of interests in Washington. It was admitted on all hands that the investigation already had outgrown its original bounds. It originally was intended to develop evidence concerning the influence President Wilson charged were being brought against the tariff bill, but the testimony of senators has broadened the scope of the inquiry to touch many subjects. Under the extension of time granted, Chairman Overman's committee expected to develop all the new phases.

HEAVY FIRE LOSS IN MISSOURI CITY

Flames at Springfield Get Beyond Control When Water Fails.

DAMAGE MOUNTS HIGH

Springfield, Mo., June 9. Fire which started in the basement of a store here this morning within two hours destroyed a row of buildings on the public square, causing damage estimated at several hundred thousand dollars. At 8 o'clock the fire was still raging but was believed to be under control.

The fire, which at first seemed a small one, got beyond the control of the firemen because of low water pressure. Fifteen buildings, practically a quarter of the business structures on the public square, soon were destroyed with all their contents. Telephone, power and street car service was paralyzed owing to the breaking of wires. The fire was believed to have started from defective wiring.

Among the severest losses estimated were: The Peer Department store, $300,000; Reys Dry Goods store, $150,000; Osborne Jewelry Co., $50,000; Nathan Dry Goods company, $50,000; Queen City bank, $30,000; Weaver Shoe company, $20,000; Ross Drug company, $25,000.

The work was continued during the afternoon with better success, but until a deeper and warmer weather can be had it is not expected that the undertaking will be much of a success.

NORMAN HADLEY, small son of Arthur L. Hadley, expresses himself on a most important topic in a report recently submitted to his teacher. It seems that the members of the class were asked to think carefully about the spectacles which people wear. These spectacles, it was shown, always rest upon the nose, but the lenses are directly in front of the eyes.

The teacher asked the pupils to write out their answer to the question, "Do the spectacles belong to the nose or to the eyes?" In some mysterious manner, the manuscript of Norman's answer reached the Corner Story department, but it didn't come from the teacher. It is nicely separated into numbered arguments and reads as follows:

1—I think the spectacles belong to the eyes because the eyes see through them.

2—if it was not for the nose you could not wear them.

3—I think the spectacles belong to the eyes because you could wear them.

SETS NEW COLD MARK FOR JUNE

Weather is Coolest Ever Known in Middle West
for Month of Roses.

CHILL EXTENDS TO EAST COAST

Unseasonable Drop in Temperature Over Wide Area
East of Rockies.

Washington, June 9. The coldest weather ever recorded during June in the middle Atlantic and New England states, the Ohio valley and the Great Lakes region, was reported today to the weather bureau.

The Gulf states are the only territory east of the Rockies to escape an unseasonable drop. "A high barometric pressure of great magnitude" is the official reason. Frosts are reported from Vermont, Central New York, New England, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Frosts are predicted for tonight in the Great Lakes region, the upper Ohio valley, the North Atlantic states and the mountain districts of the middle Atlantic states.

Breaking all records of the local weather bureau for any June day, the thermometers officially registered a temperature of 37 degrees early today.

Light frosts visited some sections of central Ohio. The local forecast calls for frosts tonight.

SEVERELY HIT BY FROST.

Rome, N. Y., June 9.—This section suffered severely from frost last night. The mercury went down to 36. Farm and garden products were badly damaged.

THIN ICE FORMS.

Middletown, N. Y., June 9.—There was a heavy frost in this vicinity last night. Thin ice formed in places shut off from the wind.

Considerable damage was done to vegetation.

THREE CARP FOR THE FIRST DRAG

Very Cold Water and Deep Holes Interfere With Seining.

CROWD AT DELTA LAKE

Three carp, two big ones and another still in the funny kindergarten, were caught in the first drag made in Delta lake, which it is sought to free of those big fish in order to preserve the blue gills, bass and other desirable fish with which the waters are infested.

Lovers of carp were on hand in numbers. Men and boys with baskets were there expecting that the lake would yield up hundreds of the fish and while it is known there are plenty in the lake, the seining was not a big success. In the first place the water was cold and a chill wind swept across it and the combination deterred many who would have not only volunteered to help in the work, but who would have been happy to have the chance.

Capt. R. D. Fleming, deputy game warden in charge of the division in which the lake is located, supplied the seine and watched the work to see that only the carp were taken out and the other fish returned to the water. Hundreds of little bass jumped over the top of the netting as it closed in on them and there were eels and other fish in small quantities caught in the seine, but those that are desirable were thrown back.

The work was continued during the afternoon with better success, but until a deeper and warmer weather can be had it is not expected that the undertaking will be much of a success.

4—What if you didn't have any ears?
5—Then you could fasten them around your head.
6—Well, the nose wears them all the time.
7—if there were no eyes then what would the nose want of the spectacles? They pinch the nose anyway.
8—What are glasses made for?
9—They were meant for the eyes to see through.
10—if it wasn't for the nose your glasses would fall down.
11—Well, to settle the quarrel I guess they belong to both.

DEATH COMES TO MRS. MARY DENZEL

Prominent Allen County Lady Dies After a Prolonged Illness.

THE OTHER DEATHS

Mrs. Mary Denzel, aged sixty-seven years, one month and fifteen days, the wife of Martin Denzel, died at 5:30 o'clock this morning at the family home, one mile west of New Haven. Death was due to heart disease and followed an illness of six months' duration. Mrs. Denzel had resided in Allen county for the last fifty-seven years. She was born in Bloomfield, Baden Germany, and at the age of eight years came to America with her parents. She was educated in the parochial schools of St. Mary's Catholic church of this city, and was also a member of that congregation for many years. Two years ago her membership was transferred to the parish of St. Andrew's church, in the eastern part of the city.

MRS. MARY DENZEL.

The deceased was married January 26, 1872, to Martin Denzel, and four children were born to this union, all of whom survive, as follows: Anna Kleinrich, of New Haven; Albert Denzel, of Adams township; Laura Linden, of Jefferson township; and William Denzel, of New Haven. She also leaves one brother, Fred Zahn, and a half-sister, Mrs. Gertrude Mommert, both of Fort Wayne, and five grandchildren. Mrs. Denzel was an active worker in the affairs of the Rosary society of St. Andrew's church. She was widely known and respected, and news of her death is sorrowfully received by hundreds of Allen county people.

Names Former Congressmen.

Senator Poindester made the committee sit up when he mentioned several former members of congress whom he believed might be found to have practiced lobbying here. He named former Senators Dick, of Ohio; Butler, of North Carolina; and Du Bois, of Idaho, and former Representatives Watson, of Indiana and Littauer, of New York. He did not accuse any of improper attempts to influence congress on legislation but suggested that they might know some interesting things. He said he would be glad to give the names of other men, which he could furnish upon an investigation of his records. Chairman Overman at the conclusion of the morning session said that the committee had not decided whether it would subpoena the congressmen named.

"I think there has been a scandalous lobby," said Senator Poindester, "less than in 1909, but it's here now. I don't mean money has been used."

Senator Poindester called attention to dinners given by Edward Lines, the Chicago lumber man and to former Representative Littauer, who he said, was able to hold the Payne-Aldrich bill in conference for many days and secure finally a compromise on the glove schedule in which he was interested.

What Tillman said. Senator Tillman said he owned $3,500 worth of cotton stock and $2,000 of Oklahoma oil stock.

"I am only anxious that we pass the tariff bill and relieve the chilly sensation now predominating in New York among certain gentlemen who have grown wealthy on legalized piracy," he said. "They seem to have the shivers and owing to the fact that our currency laws are not the best, and the sooner the congested feeling is over the better."

Senator Tillman said he thought large sums had been used to buy the columns of the newspapers to inform congress and the people on the tariff question, but beyond that while he suspected the existence of a lobby here he had not actual knowledge of it.

WAS A REGULAR RINK.

Men Skated and Women Flopped on the Sidewalk.

Washington, June 9.—The crowd that frequents the soda fountain at the drug store at the corner of F and Fifteenth streets, just across from the treasury building, where women in their new gowns leave the street cars to commence the parade up fashionable F street, had a grand time for two hours. A barrel of syrup dropped from the tail end of a transfer wagon, the head of the barrel came out, and fifty gallons of juice covered about 200 square feet of sidewalk.

Five women wearing tight-fitting skirts went down almost in a heap when they struck the syrup. The tight skirts kept them from skating through, as the men did.

Soon an army of drug clerks was out "shooing" the people around the slick spot and escorting those who fell into the store to have their clothes cleaned. Three men who dashed to the rescue of women lost their feet and went down with them. Twenty-six skirts and fourteen men's suits suffered. Several women whose skirts were a little high and who wore up to date summer under-outfits declined the offer of drug store help and hurried home.

The Feast of Weeks, also called "The Feast of the First Fruits," falls according to the Jewish calendar, on the sixth of Sivan. Its name is derived from the seven weeks which elapsed between the departure of the children of Israel from Egypt and their arrival at Mt. Sinai. Like its companion holiday, the Feast of Passover, it too, has both an agricultural and a historical aspect. This was the early harvest season when the first of the wheat, baked in two loaves of bread, was brought as an offering of gratitude, and as a token of man's dependence upon the goodness of God. Historically it carries us back in memory to the promulgation of the Ten Commandments, when Israel accepted the new moral code and religious legislation, and was aroused for the first time to the consciousness of his new spiritual task and destiny. The Ten Commandments were the Magna Charta of Religion. Having secured political freedom, Moses found it necessary to give his people religious freedom. The new nation must be buttressed upon religious obligation. They may be a Kingdom, but they must be a Kingdom of Priests, a holy nation.

Shabbath has gained a stronger and a more impressive hold today by entwining its symbolism about the impressive child. "Confirmation" is the youth's feast of self-consecration. We solemnly affirm by this ceremony that our children, shall stand morally and religiously in the same enthusiastic and receptive attitude as did their fathers at the foot of Mt. Sinai. Shabbath has a distinctly modern and indispensable appeal to the individual. It teaches, first of all, that Religion, as a necessity of life, is the actuating motive and sanction of personal, social and national character. Secondly, it champions the cause of Religious Freedom as the most highly prized privilege and possession of the human race.

HOLD DIVERSE VIEWS.

Speakers in New York Churches Differ as to Eugenic Movement.

New York, June 9.—Diverse views of the eugenic movement are held in New York churches. Special addresses on the subject were delivered from local pulpits yesterday. The Rev. George W. Grinton, secretary of the Methodist conference of New York, attacked the activity of churches in the movement as a "ten day fit of hysteria." He declared that the betterment of the race would be furthered best by education and by the enactment of a measure replacing the present marriage license law, which would require examination by state physicians and applicants for a marriage license.

Former Congressman William S. Bennett, in charge of a large meeting at the West End Presbyterian church, where four addresses favoring eugenic marriages were delivered, expressed pride in the fearlessness with which the church was treating the subject, which deserves the strong support of all denominations.

Emil Nitzsche, a farmer living in Washington township, suffered an attack of biliousness at the Bash seed store this morning and he was removed to the Lutheran hospital in an ambulance. His condition is not serious and he will be able to go home in a few days.

sive investigation of the "trust" by James A. Fowler, assistant to the attorney general. Mr. McKercher is in immediate charge of the suit. The alleged monopoly has been accomplished, the petition declares, by the Eastman company's "absorbing or acquiring control of a great number of competitors in the United States and foreign countries." The bill cites the numerous photographic manufacturing and marketing companies which with their patents have been acquired by the Eastman companies.

Restraints Imposed. Restraints, the government declares, have been imposed upon the business of competing manufacturers and dealers by the combination's "terms of sale" under which Eastman made goods were handled exclusively by so-called Eastman dealers, who were not allowed to handle the goods of competitors until Nov. 1, 1911. When the "terms of sale" were amended to restrict only Eastman goods manufactured and marketed under existing patents.

The terms of sale also fixed the resale prices. Injunctions are asked for against those practices.

Complaint is also made that certain large retail or stock houses owned by the Eastman companies are conducting business under the names of the original owners as competitors of the "trust."

Unfair Competition Charged. Unfair competition is charged through the alleged practice of the Eastman companies in marketing through one of its competitors, the Defender company (Rochester), a certain film as if it were the product of an independent, suppressing the fact that it is made by the combination.

It is alleged that the General Paper Company of Germany, the world's greatest producer of raw photographic paper, sells raw paper in the United States at a discount to the Eastman companies and refuses to supply any other manufacturer or dealer in this country. The Eastman Kodak Company of New Jersey, a holding company, has an authorized capital of $25,000,000, of which $25,000,000 has been issued. The Eastman Kodak company of New York, the operating company of the combination, is a $5,000,000 corporation manufacturing and marketing photographic supplies.

WILL REFUSE TO DISSOLVE. But Eastman Company is Willing to Readjust Its Methods.

Rochester, N. Y., June 9.—The Eastman Kodak company will adjust its methods of doing business to meet the charges preferred against the company in government's dissolution suit, filed today at Buffalo. George Eastman, president of the company, so reported here on receipt of the news that suit had been begun. Mr. Eastman decided, however, that the company would refuse to dissolve.

"While in the formal part of the petition filed by the government, there is a prayer for dissolution, as is usual, I am informed in all such cases," said Mr. Eastman, "it is believed that full compliance with the main specific demands for changes of trade methods freely offered by this company will successfully meet all criticism and satisfy the trade at large and the government."

"Aside from the economic principles which would be violated by such dissolution it can clearly be shown that if the United States is to keep its lead in the photographic art which it has maintained for the last 20 years and meet competition in the markets of the world the co-ordination of the manufacture of films, papers and cameras must be continued. No concern that is unable to furnish products in all of these lines, adapted one to the other, can hope to compete with the great foreign manufacturers who are straining every effort in similar directions."

In compliance with the government's petition, the company, according to Mr. Eastman, intends hereafter to operate its various retail stock houses under its own name and add its name to their stationery and advertising matter. "One of the main points of this policy (representing dealers in our patented goods handling no other similar goods) has been to prevent the substitution of goods that are inferior to ours to unsatisfying customers," said Mr. Eastman. "However, designing to avoid a long and expensive litigation, the waste of time of our most important men and the unsettling of normal business conditions are willing to meet the wishes of the government even on this point."

ATTORNEYS COME TO AN AGREEMENT

Rempis Case Against Electric Works is Settled Out of Court.

U. S. COURT DOCKET

Attorneys for the defendant in the case of Frederick Rempis, against the Fort Wayne Electric works, asking judgment for $5,000 for personal injuries, appeared before Clerk T. J. Logan of the federal court this morning and announced that a settlement had been reached. Consequently the case will not be tried in the federal court session to be held here tomorrow. Rempis was injured some time ago in an elevator accident at the plant of the Fort Wayne Electric works. His attorneys were McAdams and Hartzell, and the defendant was represented by Thomas and Townsend and E. M. Hulse. Judge A. B. Anderson will arrive in Fort Wayne this evening, according to word received today by Mr. Logan. It is said that there will be no criminal cases for the federal session, and that nine cases on the docket will be dismissed.

Arguments will be heard in the case of Griffith against Frank Cannady, and others, pertaining to the transferring of bonds. The case was originally filed in the Huntington county courts.

COLDEST IN NEW YORK.

Nothing Like It Known in Gotham During Month of June.

New York, June 9.—Today was the coldest June 9 in the history of the local weather bureau, whose records go back to 1870. The temperature was down to 47 early this morning and indications were that it would be as low tomorrow. The nearest approach to this record was on June 9, 1912, when the thermometer registered 51 degrees.

SNOW AT MONTREAL.

Montreal, June 9.—Snow fell for a short time here today. The temperature dropped to 35 degrees in positions exposed to the cold wind. The bleak conditions are without precedent in 50 years.

FORT WAYNE IN "MOVIES."

Moving Pictures of City to Be Regular on Empress Bill.

Moving pictures of events as they occur daily in Fort Wayne will from now on be one of the regular features at the Empress theater. Manager Harry Crull has completed negotiations with the Runey Motion Picture company, of Cincinnati, for the "movies" of the city, and a man to take the first films will be in town tomorrow.

The camera man will be on the job tomorrow for the base ball parade and will also take pictures at the ball game. The Empress pictures will cover Fort Wayne and its happenings in much the same style that the Pathe people chronicle the events of the world, and considerable interest has been manifested in the feature.

GAUGER GEISERT IS REINSTATED

Receives Notice to Again Take Up Duties at Lawrenceburg.

CHARGES DISMISSED

A. F. Geisert, United States Gauger, this morning received a communication from Internal Revenue Collector E. H. Neal, at Indianapolis, telling him to report for duty at once at Lawrenceburg, his old home. For several weeks Mr. Geisert has been in Fort Wayne, while government authorities were investigating charges preferred against him as a result of a family wrangle at his home at Lawrenceburg.

In ordering his transfer back to duty at Lawrenceburg, the government places Mr. Geisert in good standing, and local friends of the gauger are delighted at news of his exoneration. The case aroused state-wide interest some months ago, when a communication was published in Indianapolis newspapers concerning the case.

JOE BELL WIRES WHITE HOUSE THAT AUTHOR IS NOT "GOOD DEMOCRAT."

Washington, June 9.—Although former Representative John E. Lamb, of Terre Haute, Ind., is slated for ambassador to Mexico, it is regarded as likely that he may be chosen for another country if recognition of the Huerta government is delayed.

A fight has been started on the selection of Meredith Nicholson, of Indiana, the author, for a diplomatic post. Mr. Nicholson is backed by Vice President Marshall and is opposed by Joseph E. Bell, democratic nominee for mayor of Indianapolis, who telegraphed a protest to the white house today on the ground that Nicholson was not a "good democrat."

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

FAIL TO CAPTURE
WOMAN'S ASSAILANT

Tramp Who Bound and Beat a Woman in Her Home at Warsaw Has Made Good His Escape.

Warsaw, Ind., June 9.—The tramp who knocked down, bound and gagged Mrs. Merle Pettit in her home here Sunday morning has evidently made his escape. Two suspects, a negro and a white man, rounded up by the sheriff and his posse, cannot in either case be identified by Mrs. Pettit as her assailant. Much excitement followed the news of the assault and soon afterwards many armed men were scouring the country hereabouts for the tramp. No worse crime than beating the woman was attempted, though more sensational stories were at first float.

The tramp came to the door and asked for food and was supplied. He then left, but in about half an hour returned and demanded to be fed again. He was given a cup of coffee. Rising suddenly he struck Mrs. Pettit and knocked her down. Then with some ropes with which the woman's two daughters, aged 7 and 4, had been playing, he bound Mrs. Pettit hand and foot and thrust a handkerchief into her mouth as a gag. Threatening the children with death if they made an outcry, the tramp then ran away.

The elder child ran to the county jail and gave the alarm. The scene of the assault is but a block distant from the jail.

WOMAN'S BOND REDUCED.

Columbia City Delinquency Case Has an Anti-Climax.

Columbia City, Ind., June 9.—Mrs. Bertha Clark, arrested Friday on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of Inez Welch, a 15-year-old girl who figures in a scandalous affair involving several men and boys here, has been released on a bond of $200. At her hearing she was bound over in the sum of $1,000, in default of which she went to jail. Mayor Bloom, after reconsideration of the case, reduced the bond and the woman is today at liberty. The Welch girl has been questioned by the mayor and allowed to go on her own recognizance. She has left town for a visit with relatives.

FISH WARDEN AT WORK.

Plymouth, Ind., June 9.—Rodney Fleming, of Fort Wayne, chief deputy state fish and game commissioner, was in the city Friday and Saturday. The warden will be occupied several days in the county. He is here to have all the lakes in the county staked off for fisheries. These duties are in accordance with the new state law approved last March, which says that it shall be the duty of the commissioners of fisheries and game, in each of the lakes of this state, having shallows and bays, in which fish make their beds and hatch their young, to set apart such shallows and bays and designate them as breeding grounds. Mr. Fleming is a nephew of Senator Fleming, of Fort Wayne, and was busy in the legislature last winter in the interests of the present law. He was the guest while here of James Sweeney, the gentlemen having become acquainted with each other during the session of the late legislature.

FAIL FATAL TO AGED WOMAN.

Columbia City, Ind., June 9.—Mrs. Susanna Ulrey is dead here as the result of a fall Friday morning. She was 84 years old and was a native of Ohio, coming at the age of two to Kosciusko county with her parents. She had been making her home here with a daughter, Mrs. Oldin Harley.

While going about the home she fell down the cellar steps backwards, and sustained injuries of such a serious character that death resulted. The attending physician found three bad gashes in the head and a fracture of the skull. Members of the family heard the dull thud when she fell and were soon at her side, but she was then unconscious and never rallied.

BLUFFTON MERCHANT DEAD.

Bluffton, Ind., June 9.—Death came suddenly Sunday to George F. McFarren, prominent in the mercantile life of Bluffton. He had returned Saturday evening from Mt. Clemens, Mich., where he had been taking treatment for a chronic malady. His condition, while the source of anxiety to his family, had not been considered immediately alarming. Suddenly Sunday morning he was taken worse and death followed in a little while. He was the head of the G. F. McFarren & Sons clothing firm. The widow and two sons, Harry and Earl McFarren, and a daughter, Mrs. W. S. Smith, survive.

Stephen A. Powers, whose resignation was made necessary by ill health. Preparations for the reunion will be set afoot at once.

WOMAN IS THREATENED.

South Bend W. C. T. U. Worker Receives "Black Hand" Letter.

South Bend, Ind., June 9.—Mrs. Jennie Sharpless, a society woman and leader in Indiana W. C. T. U. circles, received a "black hand" letter threatening her with death unless she ceases her activities in seeking to close South Bend dives.

The writer declares Mrs. Sharpless is the most dangerous foe to the liquor interests in South Bend, and threatens to blow her head off unless she ends her campaign. She turned the document over to the police, who are making an investigation. Mrs. Sharpless says she will not let the threat interfere with her work, and is making out a campaign for the arrest of liquor law violators.

READY FOR DUTY ONCE AGAIN.

Bluffton, Ind., June 9.—Motorman Charles Perry, who was injured in an M. He feels strong enough to return to work and is making occasional trips with other car crews to test his strength and to familiarize himself with the tracks. He stuck to his car when the crash came and was closely wedged in the vestibule.

INFIRMARY TOO SMALL.

Auburn, Ind., June 9.—The DeKalb county infirmary is now too small to accommodate all its inhabitants without using the chapel for sleeping quarters and other crowding. An addition to the building will probably be necessary in a few years. There are now thirty-nine inmates—twenty-eight males and eleven females. Three males and one female are confined to the cells for the insane. The youngest inmate is nineteen and the oldest is ninety-one.

DECLARE CRUMBAKER SANE.

Goshen, Ind., June 9.—Fifty residents of Waterford came here to testify that David C. Friends of the imprisoned man started habeas corpus proceedings in his behalf, alleging that relatives were instrumental in attempting to railroad him into an asylum.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

11 Kings 23:15-25.

15 Moreover the altar that was at Beth-el, and the high place which Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin, had made, both that altar and the high place he brake down, and burned the high place, and stamped it small to powder, and burned the grove.

16 And as Josiah turned himself, he spied the sepulchres that were there in the mount, and vent, and took the bones out of the sepulchres, and burned them upon the altar, and polluted it, according to the word of the Lord which the man of God proclaimed, who proclaimed these words.

17 Then he said, What title is that that I see? And the men of the city told him, It is the sepulchre of the man of God, which came from Judah, and proclaimed these things that thou hast done against the altar of Beth-el.

18 And he said, Let him alone; let no man move his bones. So they let his bones alone, with the bones of the prophet that came out of Samaria.

19 And all the houses also of the high places that were in the cities of Samaria, which the kings of Israel had made to provoke the Lord to anger, Josiah took away, and did to them according to all the acts that he had done in Beth-el.

20 And he slew all the priests of the high places that were there upon the altars, and burned men's bones upon them, and returned to Jerusalem.

21 And the king commanded all the people, saying, Keep the passover unto the Lord your God, as it is written in the book of this covenant.

22 Surely there was not holden such a passover from the days of the judges that judged Israel, nor in all the days of the kings of Israel, nor of the kings of Judah;

23 But in the eighteenth year of king Josiah, wherein this passover was holden to the Lord in Jerusalem.

24 Moreover the workers with familiar spirits, and the wizards, and the images, and the idols, and all the abominations that were spied in the land of Judah and in Jerusalem, did Josiah put away, that he might perform the words of the law which were written in the book that Hilkiah the priest found in the house of the Lord.

25 And like unto him was there no king before him, that turned to the Lord with all his heart, and with all his soul, and with all his might, according to all the law of Moses; neither after him arose there any like him.

Victor E. Savoy, Near Socialist, Sets New Fashion in the King Business.

BY W. G. SHEPHERD.

Rome, June 9.—This is about an Italian who found a new way to do a century-old job. He is Mr. Victor E. Savoy and, in view of the fact that his job is a semi-public one, he being the king of Italy, his twentieth century style of kinging is attracting some attention in king circles.

There used to be two ways of kinging. For instance, if you were a king, one way was to let the king part of you be the most prominent, and let the personal part of you run second. The king of England is this kind of a king. Or you might be like Alfonso, No. 13, of Spain, who is himself first and king second.

But the new twentieth century way, developed by Mr. V. E. Savoy, is to be king and yourself at the same time. Maybe this is because he was sort of born a king.

He takes his work in earnest. A good electrician, while he works, doesn't keep reminding himself that he's an electrician; what he does keep in mind is that he must string his wires carefully.

And so Victor Emmanuel doesn't keep on reminding himself that he's a king; what he does seem to keep in mind is that he has a certain job to do and that he's going to do his dinglest to do it well.

You could be arrested for cruelty to children in Fort Wayne for treating a child the way Victor Emmanuel was treated while he was being trained for kingship.

He never had a holiday. He rose at 6, he worked from 7 to 7; two nannies, when he was small, taught him English, Italian, French and German. Since then he has learned Russian, Serbian and a little Spanish.

An army captain and eight assistants were "kicked" onto Victor when he was eight. He was a frail child, and, looking backward to those days, it would appear as if they had received orders to either kill the little chap or turn him into an iron man.

Victor had to ride horseback, rain or shine, cold or hot, daily. He was forced to take long walks. Once the little fellow complained that he was hungry and sleepy.

It wasn't until Victor Emmanuel had married the daughter of the king of little Montenegro and the children, whom he loves dearly, began to come, that he slackened up a bit and began to look on the gentler side of life. Up to that time his only fun had been collecting coins.

He's the greatest coin collector in the world and his three books on the subject are masterpieces. The coin collectors say, But, in his little play and his much work, he is always thorough. He even went so far, one time, as to disguise himself and travel to a distant part of Italy to look up the reputation of the family of a girl who, he thought, would make a good nurse for the three girls and one boy of the Savoy family.

The main point about the king of Italy is that he is king of himself, as well as king of Italy, which makes him a king all the time and sets a new fashion in the kinging union.

RADICAL LEGISLATION.

(Kansas City Star.)

"Radical legislation" may be defined as lawmaking that really changes existing conditions. Can there be any radical legislation which is not met with stubborn resistance? Can there be any which will not mean a certain period of inconvenience to the public, if not positive financial disaster, while the change is being effected?

Now, resistance to Missouri's insurance legislation; resistance to radical tariff changes; resistance to proposed trust taxes, etc., may be well founded in part. Any one or all of the proposed amendments might not embody the wisest possible course.

But whether wise or unwise, righteous or unrighteous, the opposition to the changes would be practically the same. Interests, used to a certain way of doing things, established in the enjoyment of certain privileges, almost invariably resist a new arrangement. They threaten or prophesy disaster. They probably actually believe in disaster.

This propensity adds to the difficulty of solving problems. Those charged with solving the problems get little or no help from the special interests affected. When those interests have a legislative body that is friendly to them they go the limit in taking more than they ought to have; they do not shape legislation then to a simply square deal basis.

The public has about made up its mind that if it cannot get to an ultimate square deal basis without going through a transitional period of real danger, why, then, it will have to accept the danger. The situation is more or less like that in a political war for freedom. The American people had to suffer greatly before they got the conditions they could not get from the English government without suffering.

It is more than likely that big interests of every kind can make the transitional time in the American economic development a time of some distress. It is not unlikely that after they are hit they do point out some real mistakes that the people are making. But they have not so established themselves in public confidence that their admissions or protests are accepted at their face value or taken as a reliable guidepost to the people's right way.

PRESS COMMENT ON THE 17TH AMENDMENT.

"Have Had Experience."

Philadelphia Press: "We have had some experience of the direct election already by which the legislature was instructed for the popular choice, and there is nothing in the result especially to recommend the new method."

"Legislative Scandals."

Wheeling Intelligencer: "Legislative scandals touching the election of senators have done more to bring about the adoption of the seventeenth amendment than any other element."

"Ends Long Contest."

Macon News: "This act ends a contest begun in the first constitutional convention itself. It brings to a close a more recent fight begun thirty years ago."

"Profound Change."

Cincinnati Enquirer: "This seventeenth amendment marks a profound change in our system of government."

"Additional Incentive."

Richmond Virginian: "The amendment should be an additional incentive to guarding our electorate and restricting it as far as possible to the intelligent, responsible and properly owning elements of our population."

Pittsburgh Post: "The people realize the great triumph that the election of senators means to them."

WHAT IS A LOBBYIST?

(New York World.)

Many United States senators called upon recently to define the word "lobbyist" have exhibited a shocking misunderstanding of the term. Is there a relationship between this loose appreciation and the very evil of which complaint is made?

A lobbyist is a person who, for hire or hope of personal gain, secretly and corruptly by bribery, intimidation, delusion, promises or otherwise attempts either to defeat the will of the people as expressed at the polls or to influence the representative of the people to betray their trust to the advantage of private interests.

Senators who can see no difference between a lobbyist of this kind and one who appears publicly and honestly, even though mistakenly, in behalf of a cause that may be wrong, unpopular and perhaps greedy, are not so innocent as they would have us believe.

MONDAY, JUNE 9, 1913.

The State Board of Accounts.

Coincident with the change in its personnel, the state board of accounts has made public some figures which shed light on the magnitude of the work of the board in its supervision of the accounts of public officials in Indiana. It is shown that $1,418,747.52 has been recorded on the settlement docket of the state board since the act of 1911 gave the state board the right to settle accounts between public officials and divisions of state government, to which they were indebted because of malfeasance or errors in office. Of the total, $871,679.69 was classed as direct charges, and $547,057.83 as constructive charges.

In the statement given out by George A. Bitler and John A. Boltz, who have had charge of the settlement work of the board, it is shown that cities, towns, townships, counties and the state have received a total of $78,674.17 from officials by payments made directly to the state board of accounts for transfer to the various interested municipalities. By direct payment into the treasuries of the municipalities, $126,481.65 has been recovered. Through various legalizing acts, passed by the general assembly, $100,341.88 has been stricken from the docket against public officials. Because of credits given to the officials of the state department, $262,548.64 has been wiped off the slate. The amount certified to the governor by the state board for prosecution to recover charges reached $473,013.47. There are now pending in the settlement room charges against officials, aggregating $377,677.71.

The credits given to various officials by the department, were made up of $121,523.15 in direct charges, and $141,025.49 in constructive charges. The total number of cases docketed since the passage of the law for settlement purposes was 2,222. Of these 1,556 have been settled.

The attempt of the English suffragettes to make a martyr out of Emily Wilding Davison is hardly likely to count for a great deal in furthering the cause of votes for women. The misguided woman whose death followed injuries sustained when she attempted to halt the king's horse in the Epsom derby, has merely sacrificed her life without in any way advancing the cause which she championed.

Jacob P. Brown, Indianapolis city smoke inspector, declared in an address a few days ago that there are manufacturers in that city who are saving $3,000 a year by burning their fuel instead of sending it up through the chimneys in the form of smoke. All of which suggests an inquiry as to the present whereabouts of Fort Wayne's smoke-elimination crusade.

Vice President Marshall is back in Indiana for a brief visit with the "home folks," the first since his inauguration on March 4, and in the course of an interview at Indianapolis he is quoted as declaring that he is "for all the Hoosiers, getting all the offices they can." We are confidently awaiting a thunderous outburst of applause as soon as this sentiment reaches the ears of the Indiana patriots who are seeking federal appointment.

Fads, Facts and Fashions for Women

New York Suffragists to Use Ball Parks, Race Tracks and Playing Cards to Advertise

They plan to make equal suffrage so common a thing that no one will think of denying it when the matter comes up for a final vote.

Because they have learned from the experience of the women of other states that many of the elements which most strenuously oppose the equal suffrage movement are those whose interests lie in lines of sport and amusement, the New York Equal Suffrage association has hit upon a scheme of advertising which they believe will reach the classes which have heretofore opposed the march of suffrage.

These New York women, a bit keener than the rest, have strung up banners and pennants at the baseball parks, have practically invaded the ranks of the fans in their efforts to reach the thousands of men and women who, during the next few months will daily find their recreation at the baseball parks.

Race tracks, automobile speedways—all have been remembered in this systematic campaign of advertising, and everywhere in these places suffrage banners and literature will be seen.

These New York suffragists expect to enter every gaming place with their plea for votes. To that end they have advertised on the backs of playing cards which they will distribute where they believe they will do the most good.

Suffragists will use these suffrage playing cards at their bridge functions. Gambling houses also will have the opportunity to use the suffrage cards.

And all the time the suffragists are shrewdly playing what they believe will be the winning cards.

All over New York these cards will be distributed. And whether the player be a fair society girl, or an excited gambler, the "Votes for Women" will always be apparent wherever these cards are seen.

Dozens of other similar devices these clever New York women have planned to bring their cause before every element of the population of that state. Every opportunity will be followed to the very best advantage, and the New York women believe that their fight for suffrage will be eminently successful; most of all because they plan to reach every individual in the state, no matter what the inclination, the occupation, or the recreation of that person may be.

Requested Recipes

Eggplant Stew.

One large eggplant, one onion, three stalks of celery, one-third cupful of rice, one tomato, one teaspoonful of butter, salt and pepper to taste, one quart of boiling water. Cut the eggplant in small pieces, soak in slightly salted water for ten minutes, then put it into boiling water and boil for a quarter of an hour. Drain thoroughly, add the onion, celery and tomato finely chopped, and the rice; pour into a buttered dish, pour over it the quart of boiling water and cook for one hour and a half; then add the butter and seasonings.

Cocoanut and Sweet Potato Pie.

One-half cupful of chopped cocoanut, two sweet potatoes, three tablespoonfuls of butter, one-half teaspoonful of powdered ginger, one-half teaspoonful of powdered cinnamon, one teaspoonful of lemon juice, three teacups of cold water. Boil the potatoes until tender. While steaming hot mash all the lump out of them and stir in the egg well beaten, add the butter, sugar, spices, water and lemon juice. Pour into the pie crust, sprinkle the cocoanut over the top, and bake in a moderate oven.

"How to Make 'Mulligan.'"

Butter the size of an egg, one onion, small head of cabbage, one can of tomatoes, salt, pepper and paprika to taste. Put the butter in a saucepan, let it melt, then add the onion cut into slices, allow it to brown; then put in the cabbage, which has been chopped up or run through a meat chopper. Let the mixture cook slowly, stirring it often so as not to let it burn. After it has cooked for 20 minutes or half an hour add the tomatoes and the seasoning. Let cook slowly for two or three hours. Do not cover.

Spinach Souffle.

Boil two pounds of spinach in salted water until tender, then drain and press through a sieve. Melt one tablespoonful of butter, add the spinach, the yolks of three eggs, one-half of a teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper and let boil up once. Then remove from the stove and fold in the frothed whites of three eggs and one-half of a tencup of whipped cream. Turn into the soufflé cases and bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes.

Stunning Visiting Frock

Starch Tabooed

Gone is the reign of the stiff, starched, uncomfortable dresses which were the fashion for summer wear not so very long ago, and in their places have come the softest, most artistic, most comfortable modes imaginable for wear during the hot summer days.

From every standpoint the fabrics shown this season for the summer dresses are comfortable. Not only are they soft and pliable to make, and pleasant to wear, but when the laundering of them is taken into consideration, there is still further comfort added, for creases and wrinkles need practically no ironing. And the stiff garments are entirely tabooed, which means that gowns of other fabrics, such as voiles and zephyrs and tulle, and the like are laundered with practically no starch at all.

All of this makes for comfort, not to mention the charm of the soft draped effects, and the comfort which is afforded by the absence of starch. It also means a big decrease in work for the laundress.

All the Fabrics for Spring and Summer Wear Are Extremely Soft and Clinging in Their Effects.

It's surely to be a season of soft effects in dresses, and the girl who is unable to array herself in dainty and attractive frocks during the coming summer has no one to blame but herself.

Cotton materials all come in comparatively inexpensive weaves, and the clever girl will be able to contrive any number of really attractive combinations for her summer wardrobe.

Not for many seasons have the summer fabrics been so adaptable for the tourist as this season, while the motorist will revel in the comfort which they afford. Because the materials are so soft, they may be easily packed away in a trunk or traveling bag, and when taken out, given a good shaking out, and left to hang for a while, they will be as fresh and attractive as when packed. Again the ease with which they are laundered makes them excellent for the traveler, lessening considerably the length of time required to freshen them. Even shirt waists are made of soft silks, crepes and cottons. All of which sounds the death knell of starch.

Woman With the Hoe in Old-Fashioned Garden Is Femininity's Latest Fad

With the recent agitation which has sprung up within the past few years in the majority of American cities along lines of civic improvement, women have taken a keener interest than ever before in the cultivation of flowers and shrubbery, and in the artistic arrangement of the lots surrounding their homes.

And now the woman with the hoe, during the period of flower gardens, is considerably more common in cities than is the man with the hoe.

For women have taken a hand in the development of civic art, and they have begun in the most effective manner—at home.

With this awakening of interest in outdoor art has come a return to the flowers of our grandmothers' days, and old-fashioned gardens are quite the most fashionable thing possible right now.

Seeds and plants and slips are gathered from every available source by these devotees of the old-fashioned garden, with quite as much interest and zeal as did our grandmothers exhibit in their rare old gardens. Marigolds, petunias, salvia, zinnias, asters, dahlias, forget-me-nots, heliotropes, black-eye Susan, pinks, and all the whole list of old-fashioned flowers that once grew in those wonderful old gardens, are cultivated, and the women who boast of the finest gardens are the ones who right now are working in the soil themselves the fine spring mornings, and who throughout the season will be seen most any morning bent beneath his garden hats, digging and weeding and watering their plants.

"I never knew half the pleasure of summer until I became interested in my lovely old-fashioned garden," said one well known woman the other day. "It's the first thing I do in the morning to visit that little plot of ground, and I love to walk out in it while the sun is going down, and the dew is falling."

And she is the woman with the hoe during all the summer months, while during the social season, she is a most gracious and hospitable hostess, and a much-sought guest.

Girlish and graceful is the model herewith shown. It is developed of Charmeuse.

Dainty Negliges Dear to Milady's Heart

Dearest to the heart of the really fastidious woman than any other article in her wardrobe, is her dainty negligee.

She may love her exquisite gown, she may dote on the perfection of line and fabric exemplified in her visiting costume, she may adore her lovely restaurant frock, and she may be extremely proud of her bridge gown, while she may revel in the delights of her outing costumes, but 'way down in her own heart, the time she most admires the reflection in the mirror of her dressing table is that time when she is wearing her very loveliest, laciest, flimsiest, daintiest negligee and her most bewitching boudoir cap.

For she wears these when she is in her most admiring mood, when she is alone with herself in the sanctum of her own boudoir or when chatting away in the most intimate manner with her very dearest and closest friend, who may by rare privilege be allowed admission to milady's own shrine.

And Dame Fashion has flattered

milady's whims this season with an unusually fine array of lovely modes in negligees. Lacier, lovelier, more beautiful than ever are they. Exactly as comfortable as any that have ever been offered by the dictators of the modes, negligees this year are just a bit more formal in their effect. Elegant materials enter into their making and only the finest and most exquisite laces adorn them.

Illustrated herewith are two extremely beautiful negligee models of this season's design. The one is a lovely tea gown of china silk. The skirt which is plaited, has a draping of soft flut lace in wide width. The gown as illustrated is of shell pink with drapery of cream lace. Any of the delicate shades would be lovely.

The other gown illustrated is of crepe de chene in delicate heliotrope. It is designed with short waisted effect in the bodice, and has an exquisite deep collar of net with lace modillions. It is one of the season's most stunning models in negligees.

HER WORK.

"Water in which meat and vegetables have been cooked makes good soups."

Orange and lemon peel make a fine flavoring for syrups, jellies and preserves."

Water in which rice has been cooked makes an excellent starch for lingerie waists."

A yellow frosting is made by beating the yolks very lightly and thickening them with fine sugar as you would the whites; it will take a little longer to harden than if the whites were used."

Tall wicker vases and baskets of many shapes and sizes to hang on the wall are favorite flower holders; greens, pinks, browns and blues are only a few of the many colors seen."

If tumblers become fixed one inside the other, gently around with another tumbler and, like magic, they will come apart. If a glass stopper is fixed, tap around it with another, and it will become loosened. Flower pots, iron screws, etc., taped with one of similar kind, can all be separated easily."

To make tablecloths wear well, buy one-eighth of a yard more of the goods than is needed. When the tablecloth begins to show wear cut off the eighth yard at one end and hem the end. Also, cut the same amount from one side of the cloth and hem the edge. This brings the folds in new places and the cloth will last much longer."

HER WHIMS.

Net waists are very modish."

Cheeks and plaids are popular."

Summer dresses are dainty and artistic."

The underbodies are beautiful creations."

Sashes are a feature of the summer frocks."

White crepe is delightfully cool for summer gowns."

Yokes on waists and dresses are considered smart."

The three-quarter sleeve is used for coats and gowns."

Evening, afternoon and street skirts are all made with a slash."

Cotton velvet, raton and eponge have replaced linen for suits."

Why Not Let the "Trouble Woman" Solve Difficulties?

(BY BLANCHE DRAPER.)

Did it ever occur to you how much easier it is for us to compare our happiness with the apparently much greater happiness of others, than it is for us to pit our own small difficulties over against the woes of others?

As a matter of fact it's a whole heap easier for us to imagine that others are happier than we are, than it is for us to think that our own burdens are infinitesimal as compared with theirs.

And that reminds me of that wonderfully clever little book which Clara Morris wrote, and called "The Trouble Woman." If you've never read it, you've missed an opportunity to receive a real inspiration in the fortification against difficulties.

It's the story of an old woman, to whom have come sorrow after sorrow as the years went by, until her cup was brimful of trouble, so full in fact that she was called the Trouble Woman. Yet to all who came she gave the most cheerful encouragement. For when they related their difficulties she invariably said:

"You call that trouble? Why that's not trouble!"

And then she would tell some experience of her own, so much more terrible than the complaining one heard of, and saw how this frail old woman had withstood it all, there came a strength and a courage, and just a bit of shame, that mention should have been made of so trivial a trial as the one which was pitted against that long, long list of terrible tribulations of the Trouble Woman.

I'm wondering if it wouldn't be a fine thing for each of us to build in our own minds a Trouble Woman, one who had borne all the afflictions which come to others. Wouldn't it be comforting for us to think that this kind old Trouble Woman, made up of all the troubles these around us have, was saying to us:

"You call that trouble? Why that's not trouble!" and then would remind us of the troubles other have known. Don't you think that would lift us out of despondency?

For, after all, no person has all the burdens to bear, and if all the truth were known, doubtless we would find that our burdens are pretty evenly distributed.

And no one person has all the troubles, nor has any single individual a monopoly on happiness.

Dainty Summer Drapery Fabrics Lend Attractiveness to House

Nothing adds more to the attractiveness of a house during the summer months than the effects of the draperies. And such delightful effects may be obtained at such very small expense, if with that expenditure there be combined the exercises of a little bit of good taste, that it seems even the woman most limited in her allowance might be able to give to her house a delightful touch during the summer months at least.

First of all freshness is a requisite, and that's exactly what the dainty drapery fabrics which are manufactured for this purpose give to the room. Even the most inexpensive mull, if it be sheer and white and fresh and clean, gives to the room such an air of refreshing coolness, such a sense of delightful immaculateness, that the place is at once inviting and restful.

Of course white is always attractive, just the plain, pure, simple white. But if a bit of color is desired, there are such quaint things in chintz and cretonnes, and similar fabrics, that one may transform the plainest room into a veritable replica of the old-fashioned living room. And there's a charm and an attractiveness about it all which will be most fascinating.

Silkoline is used by some housewives with splendid effect. This is better for sleeping rooms, however, than for living rooms, and should Vinegar left over from sliced cucumbers need not be thrown away; it can be used for making mayonnaise and will give it a fine flavor. Vinegar that has been used with onions or tomatoes can be used in this way also.

Yellow is a prominent shade for summer suits.

never be used except in the most delicate colorings.

Chintz and cretonnes doubtless furnish the best and most practical drapery fabrics for summer use. Voiles are shown in lovely colorings, and splendid effects, but good voiles are a bit expensive, though ideal for sleeping rooms, since they wash beautifully.

Aside from the attractiveness and variety furnished by these special draperies for summer there's a big economy as well. For the finer and more exquisite draperies may be cleaned and laid away for use after the dust of summer, and the unexpecting rains are over, and the screens have been removed for the winter.

SAID ABOUT WOMEN.

A woman who pretends to laugh at love is like the child who sings at night when he is afraid.—Jean Jacques Rousseau.

Women and clergymen have so long been in the habit of using pretty words without troubling themselves to understand them, that they now revolt from the effort, as if it were empty.—John Ruskin.

Woman among savages is a beast of burden; in Asia she is a piece of furniture; in Europe she is a spoiled child.—Senlac de Vellian.

Women that are least bashful are not infrequently the most modest.—Caleb C. Colton.

English Walking Boot Modish

Despite the fact that at first women demurred just a bit against the adoption of the low heeled English walking shoes, this spring they have taken to these extremely comfortable modes with a vengeance which predicts for these self-same styles, a popularity not at first anticipated.

Not that the English walking boots are new in the fashion world. Not at all. They made their appearance in their low heeled fashion over a year ago.

At first women tried them on. Yes; they felt comfortable enough. But then they looked at them. And after looking at them for a moment, no woman who had been accustomed to a trim, neat shoe, with a medium high Cuban heel could ever reconcile herself to becoming the flatfooted individual that these shoes made her appear. No, she would have none of them. Only those who follow the extremes would wear them at first. For next to her complexion, her lovely soft tresses, and her soft, white hands, the average woman loves a dainty, trim-looking foot; and this the English walking shoe did not seem to furnish.

Gradually, however, the comfort of the models, the sense which marks their lines, all impressed themselves upon milady—and now she can't have enough English walking boots. She adores them. She wears them high, or she wears them in oxford style, or she will wear them in low pumps; but always the low flat heel, which even if it does make her look flatfooted, and adds considerably to the breadth and length of her foot, is stylish nevertheless, and withal most comfortable.

Thus endeth the first chapter of the history of the English walking boot.

New Scheme for Spring Weddings

GRAY PUMPS POPULAR.

For several seasons pumps have been very modish for street wear, but fashion decreed they should be of tan, white or black only. This season, however, one finds gray quite as popular as the other colors. The colonial pump of gray or tan suede with self-covered buckles is extremely smart for street wear, as are the black or tan Russian calf ones and the white nubuck, patent leather or bronze kid ones. The Spanish heel is the favorite.

Here's a most attractive method of showering the bride couple with confetti after the wedding breakfast. Make small satin bags of white, bearing the bride's initials on one side. Arrange a double row of rose petals at the top which will give the effect of an open rose when the bags are closed. Since the bags on a large silver tray which has been decorated with lilies of the valley, and give to the guests just before the bridal party leaves. It's a dainty and delicate way of following the time-worn custom of showering the happy bride and bridegroom.

NEEDLE POINTS.

Every woman who cuts out from a paper pattern knows of the bother of pinning it flat to the cloth. Take a hot iron and smooth the tissue paper pattern over the cloth and it will remain flat without pins.

In making a garment it is well to remember that it will be tighter after the stitching than before. Thus if the stitching is done just outside of the basting a safe estimation has been taken to allow for this tightening.

Clever Method of Showering Confetti

AIDED MRS. NEHER IN CELEBRATION OF 83D BIRTHDAY.

Mrs. Mary Neher, of Francis street, were laid for thirty-six. The table was beautifully decorated with peonies and ferns. It was a fine gathering of descendants and the aged grandmother looked upon those around her and felt that she had been greatly blessed. A picture of the family group was taken. During the evening the company played cards and other games. Prizes were won by Mrs. Herman Hauer and John Neher. There were present Mr. and Mrs. John Neher and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Neher and family, Mrs. Elizabeth Neher and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clem Miller and family, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Heuer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Glusenkamp, Miss Anna Neher and Messrs. Madame Catherine's Chats

"I often wonder if other folks have different sizes of hips," meditated the young woman whom Madame Catherine was fitting to a front lace corset in her shop at 109 West Washington street. "Almost everybody has one hip higher than the other," Madame comforted her by replying.

"What can you do for them, so they will not look deformed?" she asked. "Just the same thing that I am going to do for you," laughed Madame Catherine.

"I put a wee little pad in the place that needs filling out to make you just exactly alike on both sides. Some people have hollow places in their backs, and we make them look perfectly fine with our first aids to poor figures," she continued.

"Well," exclaimed her customer. "I've bought some mighty expensive corsets in my days, but this is the first time any one suggested helping my ugly hip-line."

"We always do," Madame assured her. "For we know just how we want to look ourselves and we try to do to others as we would be done by."

"You have extra lacers and 'side-elastics,' I suppose?"

"You would be surprised how many people do not know that such things are a regular part of a corset shop stock. Every day we have customers who look startled when we tell them we can supply new steels, boning, lacers from two yards to ten, and fresh trimmings. Repair work is one of the important departments of our business and we can make an old corset almost as good-looking as when it first came out of its box."

FAMILY MET AT CHILDHOOD HOME

Macbeths Will Hold Reunion Every Year in Month of June.

BURIED THE FATHER

For the first time in a quarter of a century the Macbeth family, of which Dr. A. H. Macbeth of Fort Wayne is a member, met last week at Tivoli, Minn., where Charles Macbeth, sr., was buried after his body had been removed from the home of his son in this city, where his death occurred.

Although the occasion was one of sorrow for the children of the deceased, several days following the funeral were spent in visiting and getting acquainted again. The senior Macbeth was born in Scotland, November 27, 1827, and the first eleven years of his life were spent in the gardens of the king at Bradford, his father having been selected as chief gardener of one of the estates.

Tastes cultivated in his youth remained with him all through his life, and although he had a farm in Minnesota his chief care was his garden and the landscape, and this resulted in the building up of one of the most beautiful country homes in the state.

Although this home has passed into the hands of strangers the members of the family were made welcome and a great part of their time in reunion was spent there. In 1837 Mr. Macbeth landed in New York with part of his family, his mother having died when he was eleven years old, and he was married in 1852.

He went to Michigan later and by stages reached Minnesota, landing at Rochester, where the railroad terminated, and from there to Tivoli a covered wagon conveyed the family by ox team, the father walking beside in true pioneer style.

Six sons bore the body of their revered father to the grave and there were present besides Dr. A. H. Macbeth and Dr. Harriet Stemen, Macbeth of this city, Charles, Jr., William H. Walter, Mrs. Matilda Doolittle, Mrs. Mary Britt, Mrs. Nellie Redner, Dr. James O. George, Mrs. Carrie Britt and Dr. J. Lynn.

The ladies of the Turnverein will give a pedro party at Turner hall on Saturday evening, June 15.

AT THE JEFFERSON

Gaumont Weekly Tonight.

The offering at the Jefferson is the Gaumont Weekly with all the important news events of the world and the latest Paris fashions. The second picture is "The Spring in the Desert," an Indian romance with Mauda Feather in the principal part. This is an Indian photo-play that is full of heart interest and will surely please. Dainty Victoria Webster in artistic dances and the newest songs and Disk Hartzler with a new song, complete an excellent program.

Tuesday a four reel picture program has been arranged, "Hearts and Flowers" and "Dolly and the Burglar," and in addition an industrial of two reels will be shown. This picture shows the manufacture of shoes from the mine to the finished product and is one of the most interesting pictures of this kind ever made.

AT THE LYRIC.

A Dixie Mother, beautiful story of the sunny south, at the Lyric today. Two reels of a wonderful story of a mother's devotion is the attraction at the Lyric today. Stung by the scorn of his warrior father, and lashed by the sarcasm of his sweetheart, Dick a weakling and his mother's darling, enlists in the army. The exploding shells and the scenes of death all around him completely unnerve him, and he runs away, shot in the back by an officer who witnesses his cowardice. He is saved by his mother's devotion, who arouses his manhood, and proves himself a hero.

Governor Ralston has been quoted in Indianapolis dispatches as declaring that he would not permit betting on the Mineral Springs course.

MILITANT'S MAD ACT COSTS LIFE

Emily Wilding Davison,
Who Caught King's Horse,
Dies of Injuries.

MARTYR TO CAUSE

London, June 9.—Emily Wilding Davison, the first martyr to the militant efforts of women to obtain the suffrage, died yesterday at the Epsom hospital
as the result of a fracture of the skull sustained in an attempt to stop the king's horse, Anmer, during the running

EMILY WILDING DAVISON.

of the derby on Wednesday last. Only the matron of the hospital and two nurses were present at the deathbed.
Miss Davison's relatives having left the building when told that there was no hope of her regaining consciousness.

A few moments before her death two comrades draped the screen surrounding the cot with the fateful colors of the Women's Social and Political Union, which she wore when she made her sensational attempt to interfere with the great classic of the British turf.

Miss Davison had evidently expected to gain the track at Tattenham corner in time to intercept and scatter the field, but was detained a moment by a spectator who tried to restrain her. She reached the track in time to be struck by the king's horse, which was running in the rack.

The woman turned a complete somersault, coming down across the legs of Jockey Jones, who had been left prone and unconscious after the fall of his mount. She struck on her head and it was believed at first that her thick hair had saved her from more than concussion, but a later examination showed a fracture of the base of the skull. An operation was performed, but the case was hopeless.

Miss Davison was noted for her daring feats in behalf of militancy. One of her earliest exploits was to haricade herself in a cell, and she was only subdued with the aid of a fire hose. On another occasion she cast herself down a flight of stairs in jail and was seriously injured.
She was one of the most persistent invaders of the house of commons, which she gained at one time by way of the airshaft. Her last exploit before the fatal Epsom incident was the assaulting of a Baptist clergyman in the belief that he was Chancellor Lloyd George.

The inquest will be held Tuesday. The funeral will take place in London and members of the Women's Political and Social Union will take a prominent part.

Charles Lahrman, a well known Aboite township farmer, has returned from Saskatchewan, Can., where he has become a homesteader. He will return to Canada in November.

SEES $1,000 DAY BAR TO RELIGION

Men With That Income Not
Apt to Be Good, Says
Rev. M. J. Magor.

PASTOR TELLS WHY

Chicago, June 9.—"Can a man be religious on $1,000 a day?"
The Rev. M. J. Magor, pastor of the McCabe Memorial Methodist Episcopal church in Hyde Park, who asserted a week ago on Sunday evening a man could not be religious on $1 a day died last evening to answer the new question.

"We will not say a man cannot be religious on $1,000 a day, for all things are possible with God, but we do say that a man is not likely to," was the cautious statement of the minister.

"Of course, the man who got his money wrongfully could not be religious on $1,000 a day. He would have to make restitution and reparation for the wrong done before he could be a Christian.

Tempted to Indulgence.
"But the one born into wealth is born into conditions which bring temptation to indulgence to treat others as his tools, inferiors and as ministers of his own pleasures. The temptations among young men born into wealth to indulge in gambling, waste, fast women and wine are frightful.

"The poor man needs religion in order to retain his manhood; the rich man needs it to avoid the danger of not being a man at all. The rich man does not feel his need of God. He is tempted to tyranny, depotsim and self-will.

In Scotland there are 3,500,000 acres of croft land kept only for grouse and deer, and yet in the month of May 4,000
Scottish peasants emigrated out of a population not twice as large as that of Chicago.

Doubts Christian Prevails.
"How shall a man administer his wealth? Shall he buy more property, houses, yachts, cars? Shall he give a portion to hospitals and schools? We are careful not to judge men like Mr.
Morgan, but as for ourselves we cannot see how a man can administer such wealth as a Christian.

"As a rule such men are not men of thought and care nothing for science, art and truth for themselves. They are chiefly for the money itself. They do not attempt to reform society. They are afraid of progress, freedom and the rule of the people.

"Whatever puts wealth into the hands of the few is wrong. The natural resources and the increase in lands through increase in the population belong to the people. Wealth by patents and tariff and by manipulation of the markets should be under the control of the people. No one knows what socialism is, but what we need is Christian brotherhood."

STATE WINS RATE CASE

Minnesota Victorious in an Important Ruling by Supreme Court.

Washington, June 9.—The state of Minnesota won a substantial victory in the supreme court today, when in the Minnesota state rate case, Justice Hughes for the court held that the rates of the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad were confiscatory and unconstitutional, but that the rates of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern were valid.

Was Momentous Problem. The so-called "state rate" cases have presented to the supreme court one of the momentous problems of the decade. In general terms, this group of cases called upon the court to decide two questions. One was whether the states in passing maximum freight and two-cent passenger laws had unduly interfered with interstate commerce. The other was whether those laws confiscated the property of the railroads by requiring them to transact business at a loss.

The group consisted of 45 cases. All arose out of legislation enacted by state legislatures about 1907, or just after the federal government had passed the Hepburn rate law. The 45 cases concerned directly the laws in six states, Missouri, Minnesota, Kentucky, Oregon, Arkansas and West Virginia. Similar litigation arose in Alabama, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and South Dakota. In all it was said that 76 suits in federal courts depended upon the decision in the 45 cases before the supreme court.

IN THE CHURCHES

HOLD SPECIAL CONFERENCE.

Officers of Salvation Army in Northern Indiana Towns Here Today.

A number of officers of the Salvation Army in Northern Indiana towns are in Fort Wayne today to hold a special conference with the leading officers. A session was held this afternoon and another meeting is set for tomorrow morning. In connection with the visit of this force of Salvationists a musical program has been arranged for tonight at 8 o'clock at the Citadel. The local soldiers will serve a banquet in honor of the visiting officers prior to this service.

The special services conducted at the Salvation Army Citadel during the week end were highly interesting. Brigadier A. E. Kimball, of Detroit, Mich., who is the chief officer for the Army work in Michigan and Indiana; Major Thomas Cowan, chief officer in Indiana, and A. E. Bates, secretary, were the principal visitors. A musical program was a feature of the services, and the meetings were well attended.

Brigadier Kimball gave an interesting resume of Salvation Army work before the West Jefferson Street Church of Christ Sunday morning and at the Congregational church in the evening.

Major Cowan, who is one of the best Bible students in the Salvation Army, delighted the audience at the Rowser Free Methodist church on Sunday morning with his clear exposition of the Bible.

OBSERVE ST. BONIFACE DAY.

Appropriate services marked the observance of St. Boniface day at St. Mary's Catholic church yesterday. St. Aloysius society, St. John's Catholic District league and St. Carolus Borromeus Benevolent league received holy communion at 7:45 o'clock in the morning in a body, and members of all German Catholic societies attended the services. Rt. Rev. Mgr. J. H. Oechtering delivered the principal address at the services in the evening at St. Mary's school hall and gave an interesting sketch of the life of St. Boniface, "the apostle of the Germans." Hon. Charles M. Nizer gave an interesting talk on "The Social Question of Today." St. Mary's and St. Peter's choirs sang several songs and Adam A. Reinhardt sang "The Rosary" with excellent effect. Other music was furnished by Hilker's orchestra. Rev. Charles Thiele, of St. Peter's Catholic church, and director of the Central Verein, delivered the closing remarks.

FUND IS QUICKLY RAISED. Remodeled Wayne Street M. E. Church is Rededicated.

More than $3,000 to defray the expense of present and contemplated improvements at Wayne Street Methodist Episcopal church was quickly subscribed at the morning service yesterday, and the handsome building was rededicated to worship under the most promising auspices. Rev. C. Cland Travis, the pastor, conducted the service, which included the baptism of infants and the reception of new members in addition to the rededication.

TO HOLD SEPARATE PICNICS.

The primary department of the First Baptist Sunday school will not hold its picnic on the same day as the other pupils, and arrangements have been made for the outing on Saturday at the home of Mrs. A. TAXI METERS ALL RIGHT.

Meters on Fort Wayne taxis do not work with excess speed when registering, according to City Sealer Toland, who has just completed a test of the meters in eleven taxis operated by the Fort Wayne Transfer company. Responding to complaints by traveling men and others that they were subjected to excessive charges in this city Sealer Toland made a practical inspection by riding a mile in each of the conveyances in turn. The machines traveled from 150 to 300 feet extra before the meter registered a mile. Mr. Toland says the rate in Fort Wayne for taxis is low as compared with other cities. The charge here is 30 cents for the first half mile for one or two passengers and 10 cents for each additional quarter mile. The sealer counsels all patrons to read the meters before paying.

City Sealer B. S. Toland has been advised that Chief Deputy John T. Willert, of the state bureau of weights and measures, will be in Fort Wayne this week. Mr. Toland does not know along what line the deputy's investigation in Fort Wayne will be pursued.

David Nichols Says Wife Broke Up Home and He Wants Decree.

NEWS OF THE COURTS

In a complaint for divorce filed in the superior court David E. Nichols says his wife, Laura A. Nichols, treated him cruelly and inhumanly, that she was fault-finding and quarrelsome, that she "made his life miserable," and, finally, that last January, after a so-called experience of ten years she sold the furniture, broke up his home and fled to Kentucky, consoling him with the assurance that she didn't like him any more and was never coming back. Wherefore, the plaintiff asks a decree of divorce and all proper relief. The couple were married in Kentucky in 1902, and have no children.

Asks An Injunction.

The Indiana Tread Machine company of this city has filed in the circuit court suit for an injunction to restrain the municipal corporation of Fort Wayne from opening Osage street across the Nickel Plate and Lake Shore railroad tracks. In the event the improvement is proved necessary, then the plaintiff wants a re-assessment of benefits and damages so that it may have its interests protected. It declares that its property will suffer seriously by the improvement. Judge S. R. Alden is attorney for plaintiff.

Bates Asks Damages.

Henry L. Bates has filed a suit in the circuit court against W. E. Metcalfe for $10,000 damages for personal injuries sustained when the defendant's automobile, at which the plaintiff was an occupant and passenger, overturned while en route to Indianapolis. Bates, with J. V. Wilson, Robert R. Garmiro, C. J. Lase and W. H. Ward were going to Indianapolis to attend a K. of P. meeting. Metcalfe was driving the car when the accident occurred. All of the party received injury. Bates says in his complaint that he paid for his carriage and was guaranteed safe passage. He avers that Metcalfe drove recklessly.

Notes of the Courts.

In the superior court, in the suit of J. William Diss vs. Asa Miller, to quiet title to real estate, judgment for plaintiff was entered.

The suit of Melvin C. Anderson vs. George W. Lindemuth, to enforce contract, is on trial in the superior court. Judgment has been given the plaintiff in the circuit court in the case of Henry vs. Tobias Schenck on notes, and for the plaintiff in the case of the Witmer Elevator and Grain company vs. Abe Dubinsky, in attachment proceedings.

Martin ("Red") Baker, of Woodburn, was arraigned in the circuit court this afternoon on a charge of highway robbery and petit larceny. He is alleged to have first smuggled then robbed Ben Larson of a sum of money near Woodburn. The last will and testament of the late Frederick Westphal has been filed for probate. He leaves his real estate to his wife for her lifetime, when it is to go to his niece, Mrs. Ida Bley during her lifetime, and then Mrs. Bley's son is to have it. The personal property goes also to the widow.

In the circuit court Saturday Joseph F. Miller was given until the first day of September to show that he ought not to be punished for contempt of court for his delinquency in having neglected to pay $4 a week to the support of his child. Miller had long ignored the court order and was haled before Judge Eggeman. He finally drew a check for $88. The contempt case will stand until Miller proves his good faith by regular performance. Judge Eggeman declares that the prison sentence for men who neglect their children will be enforced.

FRANK MARTIN HEADS ROSTER

Nickel Plate Vets Honor the Assistant General Freight Agent.

MEETING ONE OF BEST EVER HELD

Took in Twenty-Two New Members, Bringing the Roll Up to 420.

Over 300 members attended the annual convention of the Nickel Plate Employes' Veterans Association at Bellevue last Saturday. The meeting was one of the best held by the association and the members were pleased with the hospitality of the people of Bellevue. The election resulted as follows:

President—F. J. Martin, assistant general freight agent, Cleveland.

Vice President—General Manager A. W. Johnston, of Cleveland.

Second Vice President—Charles W. Belle, passenger conductor on the Western division, of Bellevue.

Secretary and Treasurer—J. H. Nichols, of Cleveland, who has been re-elected for the fourth time.

Twenty-two applicants were admitted to membership, bringing the total up to 420. The association decided to hold future reunions later in the season and it is quite probable that hereafter all will be held in September. Except the meeting last Saturday, all were held in August or September and all agreed that season of the year was better for the purpose than the earlier months. Mr. Martin, the president, is quite well known to the business men and manufacturers of Fort Wayne. For eighteen months, several years ago, he was the traveling freight agent on this end of the line and resided in Fort Wayne. From this city he was transferred to Chicago and later promoted and transferred to Cleveland. The place of holding the next meeting was not decided Saturday, but the sentiment seems to favor Cleveland.

ALL ON ACCOUNT OF THE COLONEL

Teddy Roosevelt is Causus Belli in Triangular Fight.

NEWS OF THE POLICE

There was nothing to lift the case of Messrs. Bushong, Smith and Murphy out of the ordinary drunken brawl save the cause of the trouble. In police court this morning Bushong explained to Judge Mungovan that Smith and Murphy "didn't think 'Teddy Roosevelt' was much of a feller," whereas Bushong did. They came together on East Main street Saturday night and spoiled Detective Sergeant Pappert's Sunday shave. The officer saw the fight and took the trio to the station. All pleaded guilty and were let go with a warning from the court, as all have jobs and families to support to Jack.

No Relation to Jack. John Johnson, a colored man, with a face that is clearly against him, was up for drunkenness. He was jingled Sunday and made himself offensive to some white girls, following them and attempting to start a flirtation.

"Are you any relation to Jack Johnson?" queried the court.

"No sah," grinned the colored culprit.

"Well, you acted like it," said the judge.

Prosecutor Callahan took a hand and when he had finished seemed to have developed trouble for a colored club, where Johnson said he had purchased drinks by the glass on Sunday, although admitting that he was not a member. The case was continued for investigation.

Made Trouble on a Car.

Lloyd Jones, a husky youth of twenty-one, was fined fifteen dollars and costs for disorderly conduct on a Robinson park car Sunday evening. In the melee, it was shown, he had struck a woman. He settled his fine.

Disorderly Greeks Fined.

Of five Greeks who created a disturbance in a Greek pool room and restaurant on Lafayette street, Saturday night and wound up by beating the proprietor and smashing the plate glass windows, two were fined $5 and costs each and two $1 and costs each. One was let go. Of the five, two had not been arrested. They had been called as witnesses for the defense and their testimony developed their participation in the fracas. The trouble arose over a fly in a cup of coffee, and was helped along by too much drink. Testimony was taken largely through interpreters.

Other Cases.

Haines, drunk; Branstetter, drunk; Miller, vagrancy; Hodging, drunk; Smith, drunk; Behart, drunk, were allowed to go.

The case of Henry Miller for loitering was continued a week for investigation. John Rohan, for the same offense, was held over a day.

Charles Clark, a drunk, was fined $5 and costs.

Herman Braun and William Gerken, two lads arrested at Brookside farm by G. M. Leale, who caught them peaching in the fish ponds, were paroled to their families until next Saturday, when they are to report to the juvenile court.

Joe Breidwick and Arthur Kerr, the two Cleveland lads arrested a week ago and held for inquiry, were dismissed and will return to the homes from which they ran away.

At the instance of Chief of Police Abbott, James O'Neil, arrested for vagrancy, was held.

Green Walker, arrested for intoxication, forfeited his bond.

Must Leave Home.

Henry E. Kammeyer must pack his kit and trek from the Kammeyer home, 1021 St. Mary's avenue. Sophie, his wife, complained Sunday morning to the police that he had abused her and a warrant for assault and battery was issued. Today in police court an agreement was reached without trial that Kammeyer is to take his personal belongings from the house and not molest his wife any more. The case was continued thirty days to determine whether or not Henry can make good.

POLICE NOTES.

The room of A. E. Douglas, 133 Douglas avenue, was robbed Saturday night of a quantity of clothing, a suit case and other property. A pair of elastic stockings valued at $20 was among the plunder.

Officer Cheviron's efforts disclosed that a suit case belonging to T. J. Collins and taken from the waiting room at the Wabash station Saturday evening, was picked up by F. J. Stevenson, a traveling man, who mistook it for his own.

The Daughter's Wedding Silver

Frankley and Seiber 816 CALHOUN ST. ESTABLISHED 1865

So often and so sensibly is the gift of the parents to the bride a chest of silver.

Since this gift will last for generations care should be taken in its selection; it must be of a quality that WILL last and of a pattern that will endure the test of years. Every pattern we show will meet both requirements.

NEW SUBMARINES WILL BE LARGER

Uncle Sam Takes New Step in Development of Undersea Fighters.

HAS FALLEN BEHIND

Washington, June 9.—While the navy department has been extremely reticent concerning its submarines, it became known today that the plans for the three vessels of this type authorized by the last session of congress and for which bids are about to be asked, contemplate vessels much larger than any now in commission.

Although the pioneer in submarine navigation, the American navy has been outstripped by European engineers in the matter of size, speed and offensive power of underwater craft. The navy department designers now are planning much larger and more formidable vessels of this type and some of them prophesy the development of the submarine into a giant battleship that will replace the Dreadnought in the first line of defense. They even contend these vessels would be able to disappear beneath the surface of the sea to escape a return fire after discharging their great twelve-inch rifles at an enemy.

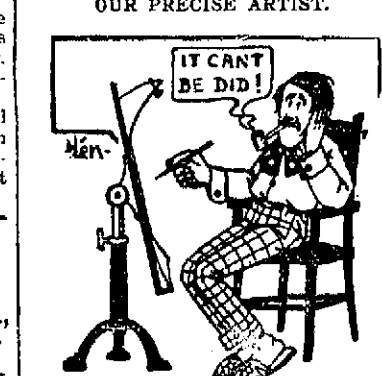

May Ask New Enlistment Laws.

Increasing difficulty in securing enlistments for the army is becoming so grave that an appeal may be made to congress by the secretary of war to amend the existing laws if the army is to be kept up to its normal strength. The reports indicate an unwillingness among the young men of the country to contract away their time for a period as long as seven years, even after it is explained to them that only four of these years must be spent with the colors.

With growing demand for troops for garrison duty in Hawaii and the canal zone and for the recruitment of the existing regiments up to the full strength, their failure of the recruiting service is giving serious concern to army officers.

HE COULDN'T DRAW ALONG

MEXICAN POST IS PICKED FOR LAMB

Terre Haute Man to Succeed Henry Lane Wilson as Ambassador.

OFFER TO VAN DYKE

Washington, D. C., June 9.—John E. Lamb, of Terre Haute, Ind., prominent democratic politician, is slated for ambassador to Mexico. Indiana senators have been consulted about the prospective appointment. Mr. Lamb asked for the mission to Switzerland, but will get the Mexican post unless there is a change in the present plan. He is an old personal and political friend of William J. Bryan.

Mr. Lamb served in congress years ago from the Terre Haute district. In Mexico City he will succeed Henry Lane Wilson, who was a native of the same congressional district in Indiana.

Owing to the peculiar state of the relations between the United States and Mexico, Mr. Lamb's nomination may not be sent to the senate for some time. The appointment of a new ambassador to Mexico involve the recognition of the government of the republic, and the Wilson administration is opposed to this course at present.

Post for Meredith Nicholson.

Meredith Nicholson, the author, probably will be minister either to Switzerland or Portugal. He lives in Indianapolis, began his literary career as a reporter on Indianapolis newspapers and is the author of "The Main Chance," "The Flossies," "The House of a Thousand Candles," "The Port of a Missing Men," and numerous other novels.

The appointment of Mr. Nicholson, if made, will be a personal compliment to Vice President Marshall. The Indiana senators and the delegation in congress were not aware that Mr. Nicholson's name was under consideration until the president asked the senators if they would offer objections if the Indiana author is named. The senators were pleased.

But the prospective nomination is not popular with some Indiana democratic politicians. Joseph Bell, democratic nominee for mayor of Indianapolis, wired a vigorous protest to Senator Kern, declaring the author had not been a consistent democrat; that he had bolted Bryan's nomination. Other organization democrats in Indianapolis joined in the protest.

Offer to Henry Van Dyke.

President Wilson has invited Henry Van Dyke, poet, historian and professor of English literature at Princeton university, to take the post of minister to the Netherlands. It is not known yet whether Prof. Van Dyke will accept.

As an author and historian, Prof. Van Dyke has given special study to the low countries, and has written a voluminous history of Holland and the Netherlands. He was president of the Holland society of New York in the year 1900-1901.

He was born in Germantown, Pa., in 1852, received a degree of doctor of divinity at Princeton, and after several years' study in various European universities was ordained a minister of the Presbyterian church in 1879. In that year he was called to the brick church in New York. He served actively in the ministry for a number of years, until he was elected professor of English literature at Princeton university.

NEW STATE FORESTER.

Bluffton Man is Succeeded by E. A. Gladden, of Lexington.

Indianapolis, June 9.—One more Marshall appointee was separated from a job with an $1,800 salary attached Saturday, when Governor Ralston appointed Elijah A. Gladden, of Lexington, Ind., as state forester to succeed Charles C. Dean, whose term expires July 2.

New members of the state board of forestry in addition to Mr. Gladden are C. D. Meeker, of Monticello, and Will A. Gault, of Indianapolis. Stanley Coulter, of Purdue university, and William W. Waltman, of Beach Blossom, Brown county, were reappointed as members of the board. Retiring members in addition to Mr. Dean are Arthur S. Nowles, of Columbia City, and Samuel Burkholder, of Crawfordsville.

Mr. Gladden was formerly superintendent of the Scott county schools.

FIRE PANIC IS AVOIDED.

Moving Picture Man at Cleveland Is Calm in Face of Danger.

Cleveland, O., June 9.—"I hate to cheat you folks out of your money," said D. E. Davidson, manager of a moving picture theater at 737 Prospect avenue, as he laughingly faced an audience of 150 persons last night, "but the cigar store next door is on fire and while there isn't any danger of its spreading here we might as well get out."

The audience, directed by Davidson, fled out of the theater in orderly fashion. Ten minutes later the flames invaded the structure. In a short time it was in ruins.

Davidson's action in emptying the theater followed so quickly the discovery of fire in the cigar store that the audience got out before the arrival of firemen.

MISSING GIRL IS SOUGHT.

Mamie Holloway, 15, Mysteriously Disappears at Anderson.

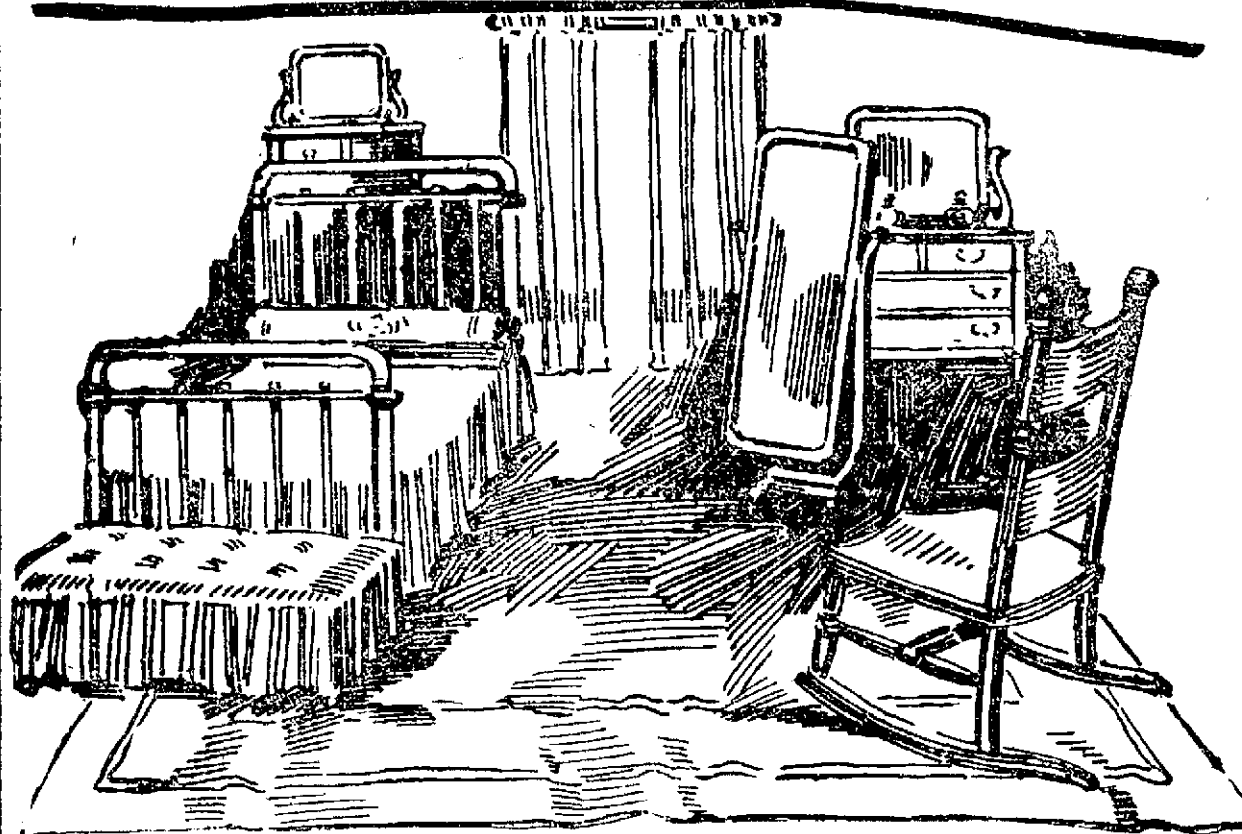

Anderson, Ind., June 9.—The police have been asked to look for Marie Holloway, 15-year-old daughter of Henry Holloway, who disappeared mysteriously Saturday at Main and Ninth streets. The girl had visited her "mama in Anderson" exhibit with her parents and while standing at the corner, missed her. The parents thought she had met a neighbor and went home. When the girl did not return at night they became alarmed and yesterday sent word to the police. The father had no theory as to the cause of his daughter's disappearance and the police believe the girl may be a victim of white slavers.

Chicago Dentist Lodged in Jail Because Judgment is Unpaid.

STOLE WOMAN'S LOVE

Chicago, June 9.—Henry I. Kors obtained a judgment of $5,000 from Dr. Victor L. Englert because the latter stole his wife's affections. Now he is paying Englert's board bill in hopes of collecting the $5,000, and the boarding house is the county jail.

This is the aftermath of the Kors divorce suit, in which a "deposit book" on the "Bank of Affection" was introduced as evidence of the wife's affection for another.

Kors yesterday effected the arrest of Englert, who is a dentist and resides at 8259 North Clark street, but not until after there had been a fist fight in his apartments and an invitation for another one in front of the county jail, according to Kors' attorney, Eugene Moran.

Searched by Deputy. Dr. Englert finally was taken to the county jail by James H. Frawley, deputy sheriff, and there he was subjected to the same treatment as an other prisoner. He was thoroughly searched, and even his shoes taken off and tapped by the man who searches for hidden weapons and files.

Anthony Moran, a law partner of Kors' attorney, went to the Clark street residence at the same time that Frawley arrived with his writ. There was a lively discussion between Moran and George Remus, the dentist's attorney, regarding another day of leniency.

Someone struck Moran over the head, according to his story, but the blow was not strong enough to knock him down. Louis Doechman, a teamster who resides at the same address, was one of the men in the room.

Complains to Sheriff. After the arrest Moran complained to Sheriff Zimmer that the prisoner was not taken immediately to the jail. After the party had left the lock-up Moran invited Remus to "step out into the street." But the renewed argument did not become a flint one.

Englert may be released today upon a writ of habeas corpus or upon the filing of an appeal bond. Until he is released, however, Kors will have to pay 50 cents a day for his lodging at the jail. He may be incarcerated six months. The board bill will be attached as additional costs if he pays the $5,000 judgment. In case he does not, Kors will be "out." His hospitality will have been in vain.

ARMED FARMERS IN MAN HUNT.

Book Desperado Who Shot at Five and Attacked Woman.

Kalamazoo, Mich., June 9.—Scores of farmers armed with rifles have been searching the countryside all day for some trace of the desperado who attempted to kill five persons and brutally attacked Mrs. Cyrus Leavay last night. That the fellow is a heavily armed man is the opinion of the authorities. After shooting a man at Richland Junction, he fired through the window of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Owens' home, three miles west, one bullet grazing Owens' hat. At Richland he forced Mrs. Ernest Traffea to get him supper, shot Cyrus Leavay in the shoulder and attacked the latter's wife.

"YANKEE DOODLE GEORGE" COHAN IS AWFULLY SHY—"WHEN HE'S OFF STAGE," IDA M'GLONE GIBSON ADDS.

BY IDA M'GLONE GIBSON.

I met George Cohan at the ball game. Certainly, George Cohan is "some fan" and stands in a class all by himself, at least several points beyond Willie Collier, who up to this time I had always considered the worst baseball bug in America. Baseball is Cohan's fad and he simply begrudges everything which keeps him away from his favorite amusement.

Between you and me I think this is one reason why he is going to give up acting, because, you see, while a playwright, a theatrical manager, or a millionaire need not let anything interfere when a game is on, an actor must sometimes play even if his favorite pitcher is to be in the box that day.

It would be absolutely impossible to interview Cohan on anything while he is watching a game, so I waited until after the ninth inning.

Then I found out that George Cohan is shy. You who have seen his antics behind the footlights will hardly believe this, but it is so. He is very modest and quiet and talks in a pleasant, low monotone and makes few gestures.

He does not walk with stiffened knees; he does not wriggle his legs; he does not keep putting his handkerchief to his mouth; he does not twist his head about on one side. In fact, he has none of those little mannerisms which are a part of his stage stock in trade.

There is no Yankee Doodle boy about him off the stage. Instead, he is a rather serious young chap with a quick, boyish smile who looks altogether too young to have accomplished so much. Only the early graying hair keeps him from looking the stripling.

"Yes, it is true that I have been seen for the last time on the stage of New York and Chicago," he said. "I shall play next year in Boston and Philadelphia and perhaps a few more large cities and then good-by to George Cohan, the actor."

"You have been particularly successful in the 'show business.' To what do you attribute it?" I asked.

"Perhaps it was luck," said Cohan, modestly. "I seem to be able to give the public what it wants. My teacher—which was experience—early taught me that human nature is not so hard to please."

"That is as good a theory as any," he said, with a smile. "But the fact remains that no one can tell you how he succeeded in anything. You have just got to go ahead and work it out along your own lines. Now, I'd look fine, wouldn't I, trying to do the George Bernard Shaw stuff, and yet we are both Irish enough to see the fun that there is in life and living and to take a sly dig at everybody—even ourselves."

love, clean fun, they love their mothers, fathers, wives, children, sisters, brothers and sweethearts. They love the country in which they were born, they love heroism, they love a virtuous act, they love light and music and the great out-of-doors.

"It was not luck that you should have hit upon 'what the public wanted,'" I interrupted. "It was that you are one of those real human beings yourself and you have had the good sense to perceive that even the theater going public, while it liked to be entertained, would not long stand for anything but the mirroring of 'real human nature.'"

"That is as good a theory as any," he said, with a smile. "But the fact remains that no one can tell you how he succeeded in anything. You have just got to go ahead and work it out along your own lines. Now, I'd look fine, wouldn't I, trying to do the George Bernard Shaw stuff, and yet we are both Irish enough to see the fun that there is in life and living and to take a sly dig at everybody—even ourselves."

WATERWAYS WILL CUT LIVING COST

Representative Austin Says River Improvement Aids the Nation.

WE ARE FAR BEHIND

Washington, D. C., June 2.—(Special) Representative Richard W. Austin of the Knoxville, Tenn., district, who resigned the consulate at Glasgow, Scotland, to make the race for congress, is an uncompromising advocate of river improvement, believing that water transportation is one of the solutions of the high cost of living.

Realizing that antagonistic camps are springing up in congress looking to the prevention of floods which devastated so large a section of the country during the early months of the year and appreciating that divergent interests will endeavor to secure legislation for pet projects during the coming winter, Mr. Austin sounds the key note for the advocates of river navigation.

"We want to do in this country what they are doing in Germany by making every river that possesses merit an artery for trade and commerce. No transportation is cheaper than water transportation and no agency so effective for the reduction of railroad rates as the establishment of competitive water routes."

As far as the south is concerned, and especially Tennessee, the improvement of our waterways means the development of our resources. Let me cite a concrete case. At the head waters of the Cumberland we have coal, iron, timber and marble which could be shipped by water, in their raw state or in the finished product, to the best markets. It costs from $1.00 to $4.50 to ship a ton of marble or pig iron by rail to St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati and other points in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys, whereas by the utilization of the Tennessee river the same products could be shipped to the same points at a cost of $1.60 per ton a saving of two thirds.

"The southern furnaces are unable to ship their pig iron to the Pacific coast, China and England because the rail road rate from Birmingham and other southern points is $10.20 a ton. The rate from China is $2.50 per ton and from England $3.60 per ton by water or a difference between $4.20 and $4.70 per ton in favor of our foreign competitors."

"With the completion of the Panama canal and the utilization of the southern rivers we would have direct water transportation for the output of the furnaces of the south to the Pacific coast and the rail rate of $10.20 per ton on pig iron would be changed into a $2.50 per ton rate by water, or a saving of $7.70 per ton."

"It is the solemn duty of congress to appropriate sums of money to take in all the meritorious rivers of the country and by systematic work make them do their measure of transportation either through locks and dams or slack water navigation."

"One of the crying mistakes of our law makers is the insufficient amount appropriated for our rivers, necessitating long and tedious delays in the completion of projects in every way worthy of improvement."

"The development of the interior waterways of the country should be put on a business basis by congress in order that the people of our day and generation may be able to enjoy the privileges of cheap transportation."

"It is with a good deal of misgivings that I am compelled to say that America is farther behind than any other civilized country in the world in the practical and useful development of its interior rivers. If the Mississippi had been located in England, Germany or France it would have long since had a 30 foot channel with effective methods for the control of flood overflows."

"By the right kind of river improvements, the Clyde, which I have been told by old citizens of Glasgow was at one time so shallow that you could wade across it in summer, can now float a Mauretania with 30 feet draft and thousands of vessels are passing from the ocean to Glasgow where many of the world's biggest ships are built. They brought the sea to their doors and workshops and if we are wise we will profit by the experience of these canny Scotchmen, we will bring the ocean to our mines and farms and factories."

POLITICS NOT CORRUPT.

Champ Clark Tells Women People's Interest Has Caused Improvement.

Washington, June 6.—"If you are going to have anything to do with politics, don't let the pessimists lead you to believe that everybody and everything connected with American politics is corrupt. There is not a single particle of truth in it." This was the advice given by Speaker Champ Clark to the Women's National Democratic league here at a meeting held to cele-

HOW'D YOU LIKE TO HIKE 3,000 MILES WITH MISS GLADYS?

MISS GLADYS MASON.

New York, June 9.—Miss Gladys Mason, vegetarian and pedestrian, is em-barrassed. She asked for one man and got 1,000. And still they're coming.

Miss Mason is the New York girl who announced recently that she was going to take a little stroll from her home at 214 West 86th street to San Francisco. Also that she wanted to hire a guard and manager—an athletic young man who liked walking and didn't mind a faint like that. And she complained that she hadn't been able to find one.

It pays to advertise. As soon as Miss Mason's complaint broke into print, applications for the job began to pour in at the rate of 100 or more a day.

She soon found a man to suit her and after a few more hundred applications by letter, by telephone, by telegram and in person, she began to feel annoyed. She says now she may leave New York earlier than she expected, just to avoid the rush.

It's going to be a strictly vegetarian trip. Miss Mason won't eat meat or drink coffee or tea, and will do her daily twenty-five or thirty miles on two wheels.

"People eat too much," she says. And her trip is largely in the nature of missionary work. She wants to show what can be done by a woman who doesn't use up all her energy just digesting food. She eats fruits, vegetables and nuts, but doesn't believe in raw food except for people who live a very primitive life.

Miss Mason will be accompanied by a maid as well as her manager. But she won't insist on the maid walking all the way.

She is distressed by many of the letters from men who want the job of managing her and her trip. "I would like to hire them all," she says, "for most of them seem to need employment. But what could I do with 1,000 men? I'm not doing any General Cox's stunt."

brate the league's first anniversary. "I know the 434 other representatives in the congress like a book," declared the speaker. "I don't believe that there is a single man in the house whose vote can be changed or influenced by the use of money—not one." He added that American politics had improved very much in the last twenty years, and attributed it to the fact that the people are taking more interest than ever before.

Mayor Zimmerman Finds Republicans Opposing His Renomination.

Richmond, Ind., June 6.—That many of the republican leaders in the city are determined not to have Mayor Zimmerman as their candidate for his fifth term and that Mayor Zimmerman realizes this and is even now making his plans to run independently, apparently is the status of affairs in the party here at the present time. The socialists have already nominated a city ticket and the progressive primary will be held next Monday. The democrats will also nominate a ticket and it is probable their candidate for mayor will be Jacob Lichtenfels, a meat dealer.

BUILDS NEST ON CAR TRUCK.

Marion, Ind., June 6.—Employees of a West Marion foundry discovered a robin and her nest with three eggs in it on the truck of a coal car that had come from the West Virginia mines. During the two days the car remained in the foundry yards it was switched about many times, but each time it was moved the robin, which was feeding nearby, would return and settle on her nest, remaining until the car was stationary.

Fine Remedy For Eczema

Also For Salt Rheum, Tetter, Psoriasis, Lupus, and All Skin Affections.

Even a Microscope Won't Find a Blemish After S. S. S. Gets Through.

All skin troubles should be attacked from within by giving the blood circulation a good daily bath. This is accomplished with S. S. S., the best known and most highly recommended blood purifier ever discovered, for action is very rapid. Its vegetable nature is such that it naturally goes right into the blood, saturates the entire circulation, bathes the tissues with an influence that enables the skin to heal quickly. The action of S. S. S. is that of an antiseptic, and this fact has been demonstrated time and time again in the most severe forms of weeping eczema.

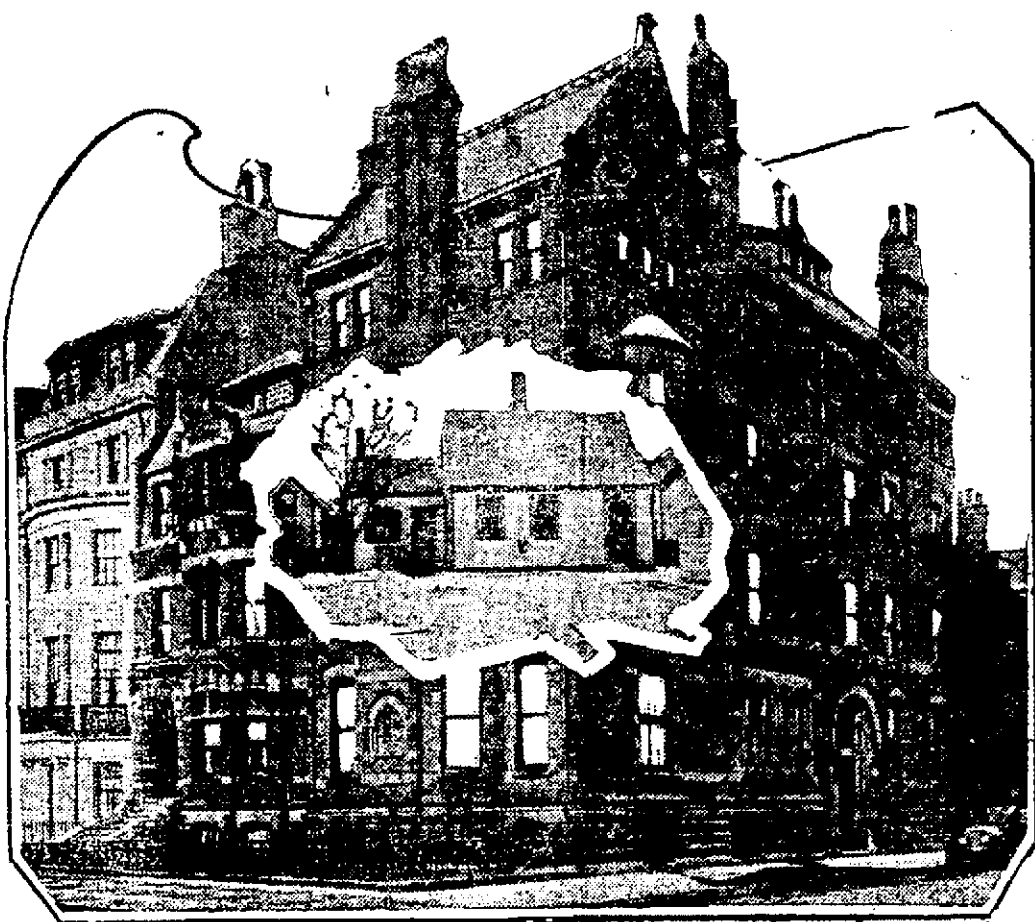

Its influence in the tissues where the tiny arteries transfer the red blood for the worn out blood to the veins is quite remarkable and goes on constantly with every tick of the clock—the heart of the heart.

And new skin is thus caused to form while the germs of irritating inflammation that cause eczema are scattered and their harmful nature entirely eradicated.

S. S. S. has a wonderful tonic influence in the blood because it contains no "dope," is not a "physic," is entirely free of any mineral drugs or any other drugs except this remarkable vegetable product of which it is made.

Few people realize how harmful are many of the crude ointments that used to be in favor before they learned that S. S. S. is safe, speedy and sure. And if any drug store for a bottle of S. S. S. Give it a good trial and you will soon see a decided improvement in any form of skin trouble. Write to The Swift Specific Co., 117 Swift Building, Atlanta, Ga., for special free advice on eczema and any other form of skin or blood trouble.

UNIVERSITY TO WAR ON CANCER

Plan Institute for Study of Radium as Cure for the Disease.

EXPERT ON THE JOB

Boston, Mass., June 9.—Boston is to have an institute devoted to the study of radium and its effects on cancer. This announcement is made in the Harvard Alumni Bulletin. William Duane, one of the most eminent students of radium in the world, has been put in charge of the work.

For the present, Dr. Duane's experiments will be conducted in the Collis P. Huntington buildings at the Harvard medical school, but in the near future a special building is to be erected, adjoining the medical school, and devoted to the work.

Cancer is the great mystery of the medical world. It is one of the few diseases which remain a puzzle to science. Scientists do not know what causes cancer, how the cancer starts, why it grows through tissues, muscles and bones, regardless of obstructions. The only present treatment for cancer is the knife.

Radium likewise possesses vast energy. A particle of radium will throw off its energy for 2,500 years without losing its power, it is estimated.

Radium Versus Cancer.

Radium, the most powerful mineral, is to be matched against cancer, the most dreaded of diseases, in a finish fight.

Dr. Duane, who will have charge of the work, has studied in the laboratory of Mme. Curie, discoverer of radium. He was an assistant in her radium research work. He has been in touch with the work of the Radium Institute in London, which has a record of many cures of tumors and cancers by the application of radium.

With what he has learned in this work as a starting point, Dr. Duane will begin his attack upon the disease here.

When radium was discovered a few years ago great things were expected of it. One scientist predicted that by the time the coal supply was exhausted radium would heat the world. Many of the expectations have been realized, and radium today is, besides being the most powerful, the most precious known substance.

A gram of radium is worth between $75,000 and $100,000. A pound of radium would be worth in the neighborhood of $40,000,000. But there are only a few grams in the world today. Recent discoveries point to an "overproduction" of radium, so the price is expected to fall. But the high cost of living will put radium out of the reach of the average man—as a substitute for his hot air furnace, for instance—for quite a while still.

Study All Phases.

Dr. Duane's work will not be confined to radium. It is announced that cancer will be studied from all sides of pathology, biology and chemistry, as well as that of physics. The new work will be under the supervision of the cancer commission of Harvard. Dr. E. E. Tyzar, director of the commission, says:

"Now that sufficient funds are becoming available, a group of investigators is being assembled to attack the problem from various points of view; namely, a physician trained in biological, pathological and clinical methods, a pathologist, a roentgenologist, a chemist and an investigator who is especially fitted for the study of heredity and other experimental factors with reference to the incidence of tumors."

In short, Harvard is beginning the study of cancer along new lines and with every prospect of success. But because of the cost of the original equipment, the radium will cost as much as the building—the work will progress slowly at the first.

Kansas Wants Nineteen Thousand Men From Outside of the State.

Topeka, June 9.—Nineteen thousand men from outside the state are needed at once to harvest the Kansas wheat crop, according to a statement issued today by W. L. O'Brien, state labor commissioner and director of the state free employment bureau.

Mr. O'Brien said wheat cutting would start in some parts of the state the last of this week, and from present indications he believed harvesting would start in all the wheat counties, with the exception of those in the extreme northwest, before July 1.

JACK RICKART IS BLIND AND BROKE

Kansas City Man Squandered Fortune But Says He is Happy.

PAROLED FROM JAIL

Kansas City, June 9.—Jack Rickart, after a life of riotous living, during which he got rid of nearly $250,000, is now at fifty-two blind, penniless, rheumatic and under jail sentence, but repentant.

As he sat in the station, awaiting his parole, he was asked:

"If you had you life to live over again what would you do?"

His sightless eyes lit up and a smile broke over his wrinkled face.

"Let me tell you, boy, she would go the same old way," he said. "Prosperous times can't last always, and when the tide turns I'm willing to take mine with the rest."

"I started life out in California digging sewers. In those days everybody drank and gambled. I followed the rest. I was still young when I came to Kansas City. I started in the gambling and saloon business. Later I moved to the West Bottoms and opened 'The Freight' in James street. Money came in like water. Life in those days was worth living, hundred dollar bills were no more than so much dirt."

"Two friends and myself took a trip around the world. It took eighteen months and about $25,000 apiece. It is better than a good square meal to me just to think of that trip."

"Then came the decline. Eight years ago my eyesight began to fail. When I was totally blind my wife left me. Now all I have left is a little cottage in South Eighth street, where I live by myself."

Rickart was arrested for selling beer at his place and fined $300. He was paroled, however, and allowed to go home with his sister on promise to never sell liquor again.

Take Plenty of Time to Eat.

There is a saying that "rapid eating is slow suicide." If you have formed the habit of eating too rapidly you are most likely suffering from indigestion or constipation, which will result eventually in serious illness unless corrected. Digestion begins in the mouth. Food should be thoroughly masticated and insalivated. Then when you have a fullness of the stomach or feel dull and stupid after eating, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets. Many severe cases of stomach trouble and constipation have been cured by the use of these tablets. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Sold by all dealers.

Particularly is he said to have been irked by the title, "Husband of His Country," bestowed upon him at a recent theatrical banquet.

Wherefore, doubtless, his eloquent silence concerning his reported latest venture in matrimony.

Do City-Owned Street Railways Pay? Well, San Francisco Thinks They Do.

Mayor James Rolph beginning the construction work on the Market street extension of the Geary street municipal railroad by tearing up the tracks of the old corporation-owned road. This work will be pushed night and day until that portion of the line ending in the heart of the business district is extended.

San Francisco, Cal., June 9.—Can a city build, own and operate a street railroad and make it pay? It can. San Francisco is proving it. With only part of the first municipally built railroad in the United States complete, this city is demonstrating that municipally built, owned and operated street car systems are feasible, practical and remunerative, and are superior in every respect to the privately owned street railway monopolies.

With only half the cars in operation over a portion of track that comes from nowhere and go to no destination, and without the privilege of being able to transfer its patrons to other lines (because other lines are monopoly owned) and despite stubborn opposition on every turn from the United Railroads, the gigantic corporation that has the monopoly on the present street car system of the city, the San Francisco Geary street municipal railroad is paying interest of 4 per cent on a bond issue of $2,000,000 which represents the total capitalization of the road, and is making a fat little profit of $1500 a month besides.

The Geary street road is paying its operating and maintenance expenses, the interest upon the bonds and depreciation. As the road is now earning $22,000 a month, and it is confidently expected that it will double its earnings when the road is completed, it will still leave surplus to go into the city treasury.

"Now, if the Geary street road when only a part of its equipment is in operation, can pay interest on the entire bond issue, including bonds issued for that portion of the road not yet built, and make a fat little profit of $4,500 per month besides, what will it be able to do when the entire road extending clear across the city from the bay shore to the ocean—a distance of eight miles—is complete?"

"When the road is finished," said Thomas A. Cashlin, superintendent of the Geary street municipal road, "the gross receipts ought to be a thousand dollars a day. This is a conservative estimate. The profit of the road will depend largely upon the growth of the territory it traverses, and as this section of the city is largely new tracts of real estate that have been recently open up, it is likely that it will have a phenomenal growth, for lack of transportation is largely what has held it back. The downtown portion of the road runs through the heart of the city and here, of course, the patronage will always be heavy."

Moral: San Francisco's experiment has proven that cities of the United States encumbered with privately owned railroad monopolies can build and operate profitably.

FOR FARMING INSTRUCTION.

Steps Taken to Get Benefit of New Vocational Education Law.

If plans set about Saturday do not miscarry Allen county will in due time have the benefit of the law passed by the last Indiana assembly to provide for vocational education. A meeting was held in the office of County Superintendent of Schools McComb at which were present besides the superintendent J. H. Griesmer, of 144 East Leith street, a farm owner and sales agent, and Hon. George V. Kell, formerly a senator from Allen county and one of the leading farmers of this section of the state. A petition is ready for circulation calling upon the county board of education to take such measures as are necessary to have the county agent appointed. The signatures of twenty persons actively engaged in agriculture are necessary. The people of the county must raise $500 and it is planned to get subscriptions for this amount at once. It is provided in the law that when twenty signatures have been secured and $500 deposited the board of education shall file the petition with the county council, which body must then within thirty days appropriate $1,500 to defray the expenses incurred by the appointment of an agent. When conditions have been complied with, Purdue University must be petitioned to name an agent. His duties will be to aid the advancement of agriculture in the county.
